Second annual celebration May 20-27

City prepares for Michigan Week

Contests and cotton candy, games and exhibits, educational projects and craft displays, dancing demonstrations and banquets, brightly-colored posters and buttons, programs and presentations, awards and ceremonies.

All these varied combinations and much more are the vital ingredients that make up the City of Romulus' second annual week-long celebration of Michigan Week, May 20-27, 1978.

Again this year, City officials are being joined by community organizations, civic clubs, citizen volunteers, the schools system and Wayne County in planning and presenting a full 8-day schedule of activities for the benefit and enjoyment of Romulus residents.

According to Mayor William M. Oakley, "the object of the week is to involve as many segments of the community as possible, in order to foster a genuine feeling of community pride and hospitality."

In seeking to accomplish this goal, the week is divided into theme days, each with a different emphasis and target audience.

Beginning Saturday, May 20, Romulus City Hall will be the staging area for "Youth Day", one of the most colorful of the eight days. Highlights of the day include a pentathlon competition, a precision marching drill by members of the Romulus Civic Air Patrol squadron, a fascinating puppet show performed by the Molby Marionettes, and concluding with rock music by "Forecaster", the winners of last year's battle of the bands competition.

Sunday, May 21, slows down a bit as "Heritage Day." In the morning, the Pearl Morris home at 13880 Huron River Drive will be officially designated a local historical site by city dignitaries. The homestead has been selected by the Michigan Historical Commission as a result of an historical sites survey conducted last summer.

In the afternoon, starting at 2 p.m., all residents are encouraged to share in a potluck picnic at Elmer Johnson Park followed by a softball game between City Hall and School Board employees.

Monday, May 22 marks "Government Day", and City Hall will roll out the red carpet for visiting Mayor Vickers C. Hansen and his party from Manistee, Michigan.

In Belleville

Free tests for seniors

Free health tests for senior citizens are offered at Oakwood Hospital's Family Medical Center in Belleville by the Wayne County Health Department for 12 days in May.

Residents of western Wayne County who are age 60 or older are invited to take advantage of the tests, which screen for many possible ailments. If necessary, the health department team will assist in finding medical and social resources for followup.

Tests are offered Monday through Thursday, May 1-4, 8-11 and 15-18 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at Oakwood's Family Medical Center, 19130 Sumpter Rd., Belleville.

Call the health department at 274-2000 or 729-2211, ext. 251, for an appointment.

Free screening is offered for blood pressure, urine, vision, hearing, height-weight, anemia, tuberculin, temperature-pulse-respiration, blood sugar, and Papanicolaou and breast self-examination for women.

Surprises abound in student survey

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Did you know that students who drive to school get lower grades than students who do not?

Are you aware that pupils who eat breakfast get higher grades than those who skip the morning meal?

Under the direction and instruction of Robert Beauchamp, the Data Processing class recently conducted an interesting exercise in data collection methods and computerized file structure of student behavioral patterns at the senior high school.

Although the survey results are not fully tabulated, they have revealed several interesting and intriguing facts so far. For instance, 14 percent of RHS students watch at least five hours of television a day. But their grades do not significantly differ from those who do not gaze at the TV tube as much.

The survey of 26 questions was given to each second hour class teacher to be anonymously completed by the students in their class. This information was entered into the computer and data processing students had the opportunity to study various methods of analyzing data.

Each student had to write a program for each hypothesis that was selected for testing, such as: "Do students who drive to school get lower grades than students who do not?" (These students received significantly lower grades).

Another fact uncovered is the item that students who drive to school enjoy school less and skip more. Also, some 65 percent, according to the survey, have already decided on a career choice to pursue in later life. As the grade progressed (10th, 11th, 12th), the higher the number of students who had made up their mind.

Of students enrolled in vocational education classes, 70 percent said they had decided which career to follow. Students in Beauchamp's class studied various statistical methods of data to make sure they were not assuming information. The survey of the high school students took four weeks.

There was other data compiled which did not call for any conclusion, such as their favorite record albums, favorite radio stations and other choices.

Beauchamp got the idea for his computer survey project at a conference of National Association of Users of Computers Applications to Learning.

Terri Burrell and Robert Blanton, two students who worked on the project, were interviewed on their conclusions.

"Much programming was studied and it was a lot more fun than just reading it out of a book," Robert said. It was his contention, and supported by Terri, that everyone learned more and retained more by this method.

"The operation was run as a market or consumer research in an actual business setting. We ran the show and all the Data Class students designed, researched, compiled, tested and documented the results," Robert explained.

Terri mentioned that math was also heavily incorporated, such as learning percentages, into the learning processes. "Not only was the data processing part of the project interesting," Terri said, "but math became a practical application in personal use."

Each student in the class had to come up with questions for the survey as well as asking fellow students and teachers for their suggestions about the survey.

"Response was so favorable that not all the questions could be included in the behavioral questionnaire and we had to decide which ones were most pertinent to the student body," Terri pointed out.

Terri and Robert agreed that a good lesson in group agreement was learned in the process.

Robert, who is returning next year for a class extension, says, "There is much interest generated in this project and they intend to run a similar survey next year."

"Hindsight is better than foresight and we are going to use this year's experiences to help us next year."

Michigan Week time draws near

Michigan Week in Romulus has rolled around again this year and the 8-day celebration grows annually in the number of events and participants. A wide range of activities offers every age group a chance to take part in the fun-filled week, which honors a different segment of the community each day. Shown here during last year's Michigan Week is the Senior Citizen Combo playing for "Community Pride Day" on the edge of the city hall parking lot. In the other photo, fire fighters give local residents a close-hand look at one of the city's fire trucks. This year's Michigan Week runs from May 20-27.

City auction is Saturday

Plans are moving full-speed ahead for Romulus' auction sale this Saturday at 1 p.m.

The city will put up for bid some of its excess and outdated items in the auction to be held at Romulus Fire Station No. 1, Bibbins at Shook.

Everything from fire engines to paper clips will be auctioned off to the highest bidders. Auctioneer for the event will be Rollo Juckette.

A partial list of items to be sold includes street signs, 13 cars and trucks, calculators, polaroid cameras, typewriters, office furniture, books and other larger items.

Neighboring communities have shown interest in offering items to be sold. For more information, call the mayor's office at 941-0666.

Proclaim MD month

Mayor William M. Oakley of Romulus this week proclaimed Muscular Dystrophy Month throughout the city for the period from May 15 to June 15.

He called upon the people of Romulus to support the 1978 March appeal by Muscular Dystrophy Association.

The annual drive seeks funds to support an all-out research attack against the crippling, muscle-wasting disease and to provide clinic and patient services.

The Volunteer Chairman for Romulus is Miss Elvera Fischer for the 19th consecutive year. Those wishing to help in this worthwhile cause may volunteer by calling "March Against Time" headquarters at 721-6367.

Country-western concert set

Two award-winning country-western groups will perform this weekend in Westland for the benefit of the Westland Firefighters Benevolent Association.

Danny Davis and The Nashville Brass and The Jim Ed Brown Show will give concerts at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. on Sunday, May 14, at Westland Arena, Wildwood at Hunter, one-half mile north of Ford Rd., Westland.

Co-sponsored by the Westland Firefighters and CKLW-FM-94, the country music spectacular will cost $5 per ticket, which are available at J. L. Hudson's and all Westland fire stations.

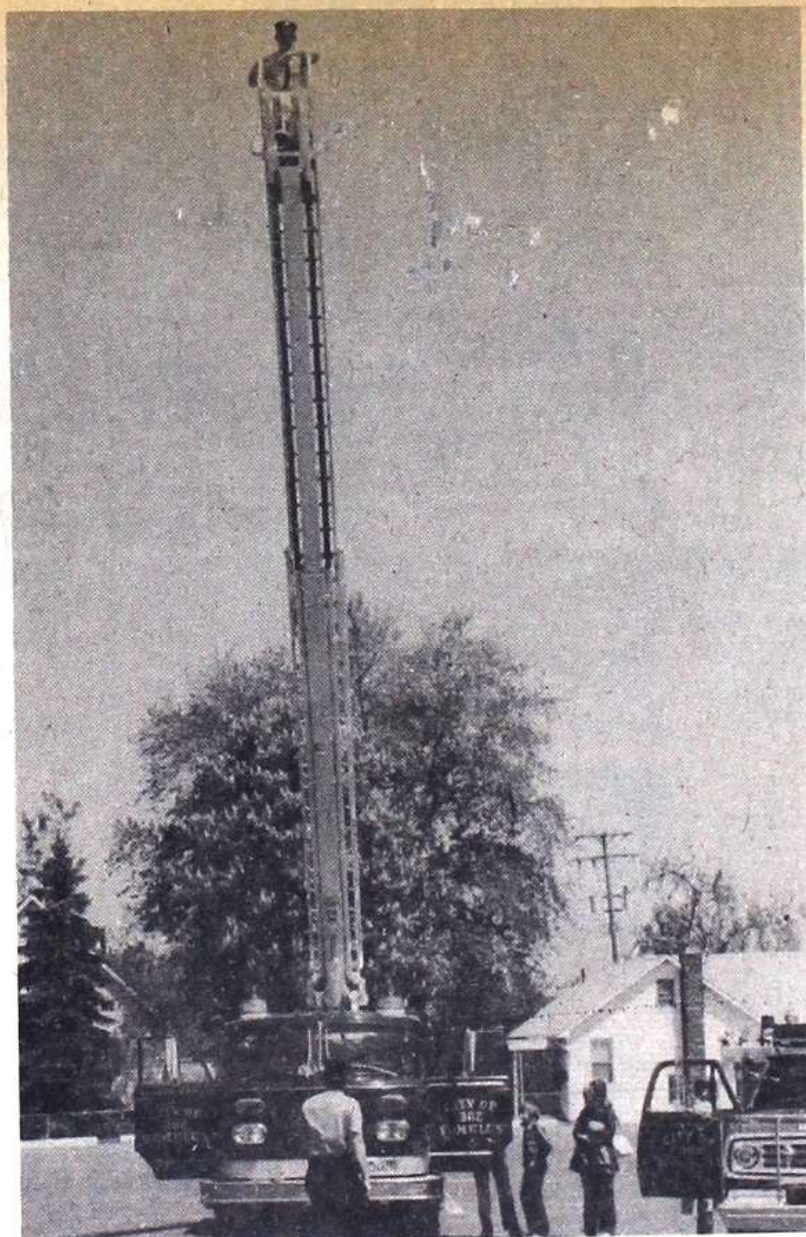

School to be sold

Romulus School Board voted Monday night to sell Romulus Elementary School, 11165 Olive St.

School attorneys will explain the board's options in how to sell the school at its next meeting May 22. Board President Wayne Avery and Trustees Mike Woods, Richard Campbell and Mrs. Sandra Langley voted to sell the school while Mrs. Sharron Cahill abstained.

Leo Sklar, appointed senior citizen housing director by city council, is seeking the school property to build a high-rise unit for the elderly.

Sardonell receives first AF promotion

Bryan F. Sardonell, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed M. Sardonell of Timberlane Drive, Belleville, has received his first promotion in the U.S. Air Force.

Sardonell, promoted to airman, recently completed technical training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., and now is assigned to Ellsworth Air Force Base, S.D. He serves as a security specialist with a unit of the Strategic Air Command.

The airman is a 1975 graduate of Faithway High School in Ypsilanti. Also in the armed forces:

Marine Lance Cpl. Cary K. Kaiser, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen F. Lake of Westgate Drive, Romulus, has been promoted to his present rank while serving with the 2nd Marine Division at the Marine Corps Base at Camp Lejeune, N.C.

A 1977 graduate of Romulus Senior High School, he joined the Marine Corps in June 1977.

Navy Cryptologic Techn. Seaman Appren. Daryl L. Quton, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milo D. Quton of Hamilton, Belleville, has completed a specialized Boiler Technician course.

The six-week course was conducted at the Fleet Training Center at San Diego, Calif. The course was designed to provide advanced training to boiler technicians of the operation of the Hagan steam plant automatic control system used aboard Naval ships.

Students received instruction on the theory and operating principles of the automatic boiler system and associated controls and gauges.

Practical application included the disassembly, repair, reassembly and calibration of the various components comprising the system.

A 1977 graduate of Belleville High School, he joined the Navy in July 1977.

Presnell calls for full report on solving airport parking woes

Wayne County Commissioner Thomas Presnell, head of a task force formed to deal with the Detroit Metropolitan Airport parking problem, has called for a full report on plans for increased parking at the airport.

Presnell, who proposed the task force, asked the County Road Commission which operates the facility, to submit a comprehensive report by May 15.

Presnell (D-Westland) said the report is the first step in implementing his resolution requesting that the possibility of providing temporary satellite parking areas for air travelers during the Christmas-Easter travel crunch be studied. He suggested that shuttle bus service be provided from the parking areas which could be located on public or private property.

"We need to know what is being done to prevent a recurrence of the traffic jams which choked the airport last Christmas and Easter," Presnell said. "Last December, the sheriff's department ticketed 300 improperly parked cars and ordered 30 cars towed away in just one night. This occurred 'after' the airport opened an additional 1,000-space employees' parking lot to the public."

Flower 'tour' planned

A "Spring Wildflowers" walk will be conducted at the nature center of Kensington Metopark near Milford on Sunday at 9 p.m.

Many of nature's prettiest wildflowers bloom early in spring before the leaves of the trees shade the forest floor. Join naturalist Dave Moilanen and Steve Horn for a look at these "spring beauties" and some of their adaptations and interesting characteristics. Techniques used in flower identification also will be discussed.

This 2-hour program is for families and individuals only. Advance registration is required, as well as vehicle entry permits.

For information or registration contact the nature center of Kensington Metopark at 685-1561 (Milford).

Ypsilanti show still is in need of boat displays

The Downtown Promotion Committee of the Greater Ypsilanti Area Chamber of Commerce is looking for boats to display at its second annual New-Used Boat Show May 20.

Committee chairman Paul Miller said any boat owner looking for potential buyers is invited to place his craft on display on the Washington Street Promenade for prospective buyers to inspect.

"Small boats, large boats, sailcraft or power boats may be displayed from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.," Miller said. "Last year, several boats were sold by private owners, even though our show had been postponed a week due to rain."

Anyone wishing to display a privately-owned boat for sale during the one-day event is asked to contact the Downtown Promotion Committee at 482-4920. Space will be allocated on the promenade and instructions as to delivery and pick-up will be available.

The show also will highlight a selection of new boats available from area marine dealers. Also on display will be outboard motors and other marine accessories.

The new and used boat show is another community awareness project sponsored by the Downtown Promotion Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. There is no charge for exhibitors.

Conservationists oppose amusement park plans

A proposed amusement theme park in Kensington Metopark in southeastern Michigan is an inappropriate use of public parkland, according to the Michigan United Conservation Clubs.

The state's largest conservation organization is objecting to a lease by the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority to a Southfield corporation of more than 100 acres of the metropark for a $2.5 million private development.

Thomas L. Washington, MUCC executive director, said his organization is opposing the Kensington Children Farm and Village Corporation's plans to "commercialize" the metropark with mechanical rides and shops as part of a "children's farm." The corporation now operates a small animal farm on the leased site.

"We do not believe this amusement park is an appropriate use of Kensington Park or is compatible with the fragile natural resources of the park," Washington said. "In addition, it is our belief that this lease by HCMA of public parkland to a private, profit-oriented corporation is not authorized by HCMA's enabling legislation. We presently are consulting with our attorneys about the possibility of formal legal action against HCMA to stop construction of this amusement park."

Washington explained that MUCC is not opposed to the theme park in concept but opposes the use of HCMA land for the development.

"If this corporation feels there is a market for this type of recreation," he said, "then it should purchase private property for the development. Why should public parkland be used to benefit a private company?"

We do not believe the shore of Kent Lake is an appropriate place to build this carnival-type attraction. It will destroy natural resources and detract from the atmosphere which makes Kensington Park one of the most popular recreation areas in Michigan."

The Kensington Area Property Owners Association, representing several hundred families in the park area, has actively opposed the project and brought the issue to the attention of MUCC.

"We believe the homeowners' association has raised serious legal questions which deserve MUCC's consideration," Washington said. "This issue will set a precedent for the direction HCMA will go in the future development of all its parks."

"HCMA's enabling legislation defines parks as areas for picnicking, hiking, swimming, hunting, fishing, horseback riding and for wildlife sanctuaries, botanical gardens and so forth. Read in that context, it is apparent to us that this is not the type of recreation that HCMA should be promoting."

Farm life finds a spot in urban setting

By September 1979, urban dwellers in the metropolitan area will have to go no further than the city of Wayne to visit a model farm — complete with barn, farmhouse, windmill, ponds, orchards, field crops and a greenhouse.

Wayne County officials broke ground Friday for a $5 million educational complex that will feature that model farm and a multi-purpose learning center.

The educational center, to be located on a 26-acre site at Van Born Road between Howe and Venoy roads, is expected to provide informal, out-of-school learning opportunities the year-around for nearly one-half million area residents.

The project was developed and sponsored by the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service, Donald J. Juchartz, director; and the Wayne County Intermediate School District, Dr. William Simmons, superintendent.

Last fall, the two county agencies were awarded the $4.7 million federal grant from the Economic Development Administration, to build the educational complex. The county already owns the land, which is north of the Wayne County Federated Library System headquarters and adjacent to the present Intermediate School District facility.

The model farm will be used to teach urban dwellers about farm life, particularly school children who "really don't know where their food comes from," said Juchartz.

The two-story multi-purpose building will also house offices and laboratories of the Cooperative Extension Service, as well as offices and meeting rooms for demonstrations, lectures and other educational functions of the Intermediate School District. The building will have a 250-seat auditorium for use by both county agencies.

The county school district will provide printing and audio-visual services to the extension service, so part of the grant will be used to enlarge the printshop in the present educational center, which will be only 800 feet from the new building.

Dr. Simmons emphasized the "Great educational impact" the new center will have on districts throughout the county, with on-site demonstrations and exhibits, tours and school-sponsored field trips.

"The agricultural, gardening, family living and 4-H youth programs of the extension service will be effectively combined with the vocational-occupational services the county school district provides to the 36 local districts in Wayne County," he said.

It was Juchartz who first proposed the idea of an educational center with model farm some 10 years ago.

He pointed out some additional features of the center.

"Two ponds will be used for experimenting and demonstrating pollution control techniques. We might even show how to raise fish as a crop," he said. "There will be a variety of shade, fruit and flowering trees, farm crop areas and about eight acres to demonstrate home ornamental landscaping."

The red barn will house lecture-demonstration areas with arena-type seating. There will be winding footpaths and paved roads to provide access to all parts of the farm area and parking for 500 cars.

The complex will be named the Wayne County Extension and Education Center.

County officials estimated that the project will produce 140 construction jobs and at least 60 new permanent jobs.

Once it is complete, the present Cooperative Extension Service facilities at 5455 Wayne Rd. will be closed, as will the 4-H and family living programs in the Wayne Post Office and the consumer Marketing Service in Detroit, Juchartz said.

Several dignitaries attended the Friday afternoon groundbreaking ceremony, including Congressman William Ford (D-15th District), Jarrette Simmons, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners (D-Detroit); Richard E.

Manning, vice chairman of the Board of Commissioners (D-Redford); Leonard Proctor, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Auditors; Wayne County Commissioner Edgar Harris (D-Taylor); and Dr. James R. Anderson, dean, College of Agriculture and Natural Resources, Michigan State University.

Congressman Ford, who was the featured speaker at the land-breaking, praised the two county agencies for what he termed "a new spirit and level of cooperation in seeking federal funding."

"Quite often, agencies serving the same geographical area will compete against one another for federal monies," Ford said. "But, in this case, the Cooperative Extension Service and the County Intermediate School District joined forces to capture the federal grant."

Jarrette Simmons, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, said that Wayne County is the first in the nation to build an educational complex of this type. She predicted that "it will become a model for the entire nation."

"This planned educational center has attracted national attention," Mrs. Simmons said. "Other counties will be watching us to see if this unusual mix of urban meeting rooms and model farm will work. We are confident it will be a huge success."

Architects for the project are Walter J. Rozycki-Nordstrom & Samson Associates of Detroit and Dearborn and John Grissim Associates, landscape architects, of Farmington.

'We're in the people business'

Bilmar's Market cares about Mrs. Consumer

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

"We're in the people business—not just in the food business," is the philosophy of Bill Simonds, owner of Bilmar's Supermarket in Romulus.

And the soft-spoken man from Tennessee displays his concern for his customers people with each word he speaks.

"We're going to give Mrs. Consumer good low prices. She's the one we're really working for and she's the one we're trying to please."

The latest effort in Simonds' continuing drive to show his appreciation for his customers comes in the form of a "Sale-a-bration" that runs from May 8-28.

"We've had good business since we opened our doors 2½ years ago," he says in his soft voice, "and we appreciate our customers. We hear more and more good comments every day and this only makes us want to work harder to bring the store up to my standards."

Simonds, 50, has worked hard all his life and is reaching for those goals he set for himself as a young man in Kingston, Tenn.

"We realize how important the customer is. Without them, we're nothing. That's why we strive to please our customers with a good clean, honest operation with fair prices and quality products."

It's taken a lot of hard work for Simonds and his family and co-workers to make a success of Bilmar's Market. And much of the work in the first 2½ years has been "behind the scenes" where it goes unnoticed.

And the long, hard hours are beginning to pay off for Simonds.

Not that he's not used to hard work. As he points out, "I don't work any different now than I did when I worked for someone else. I've always worked long hours and you kind of get used to it."

Simonds first became associated with the food business more than 30 years ago. After his discharge from the U.S. Navy in 1945, he returned to Kingston, Tenn., his birthplace, where he met and married his wife, Catherine Marie.

The couple moved to Pontiac, Mich. and later to Saginaw, where Simonds worked in supermarkets, specializing in produce. Then he made the decision that changed his life.

"I decided I wanted to start out in business for myself. I had seen others go out on their own — some had been successful, others had failed. I felt I could be a success."

An empty market became available, at 36521 Goddard Road, corner of Shook Rd., in Romulus and Simonds decided that was where he would locate his business.

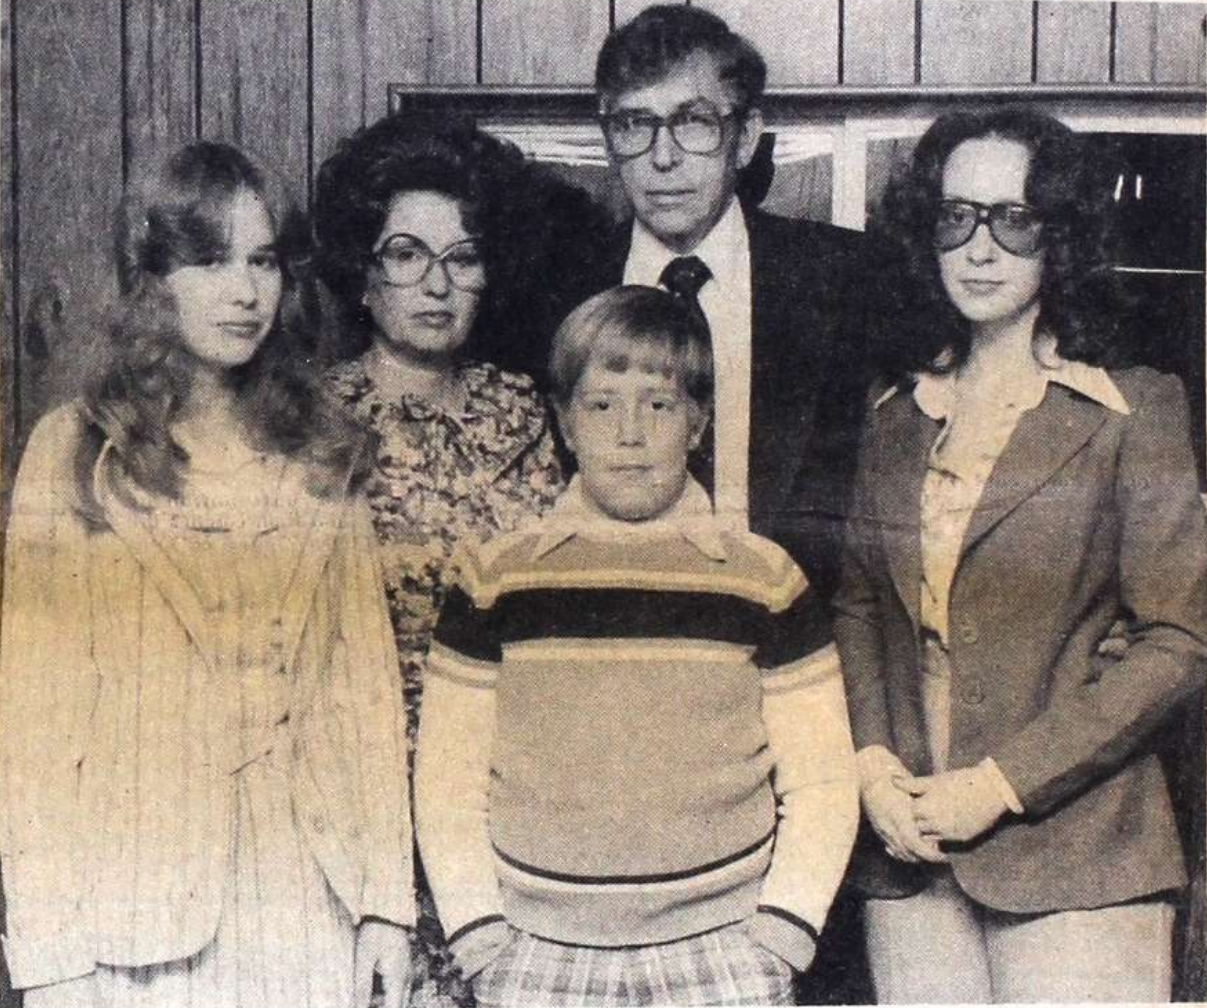

So, the Simonds family moved to Romulus. Included in the family, besides Bill and Marie, are Judy, 30, the mother of three daughters, who resides in Howell; Philip, 27, father of one daughter and a Lansing resident.

Also, Lynn, 25, who graduated from Wayne State University in 1975 with an art major, works regularly at Bilmar's Market. Still living at home are Toni, 13, and Tom, 10.

"I made up my mind I was going into business somewhere, sometime, somehow and I did," recalls Simonds of his decision to open Bilmar's on Oct. 21, 1975. The vacant store had been untouched for six months so there was much work to be done by Simonds and his family.

"We had to go through quite a few ordeals that would make you laugh and make you cry," he reminisced, fondly recalling his early days of struggle in business.

Although he admits freely that he has a long way to go, he exudes pride as he gives his guest a tour of the spacious aisles and attractive

All in the family

Bill Simonds' philosophy is that he's in the "people" business and that's what guides Bilmar's Supermarket philosophy. He's also a strong family man and is the father of five children. Shown with Bill and his wife, Marie, are Toni, 13, Tom, 10, and Lynn, 25. — ANP photo.

'On the inside'

For more than 30 years Bill Simonds has been serving people in the food business, specializing in the area of produce. Shown here is the sparkling clean row of fruits and vegetables in Bilmar's Supermarket at 36521 Goddard Road, in Romulus. "We've come a long way in the 2½ years since we started with a vacant building, but we've still got a long way to go to come up to my high standards," he said this week. — ANP photo.

Also prominent in his conversation are store manager Pat Callaghan, who has been with him three months. Other employees vital to the operation are Ed Gifford, meat manager; Gerald Diepenhorst, produce manager; Marty McVicar, head stock; Denise Bergmooser, head cashier, and Delores Bradley, assistant head cashier.

The name of the supermarket — Bilmar's — comes from a combination of Simonds' and his wife's first names, Bill and Marie. It was chosen by the family from among three or four possibilities.

Marie, who was born in Mississippi, is active in Romulus Calvary Baptist Church where she teaches Sunday School and belongs to the Women's Missionary Society.

"I love my church work and always try to put it first," she says. "But I manage to work in a few other hobbies and interests."

She belongs to the Belcourse Home Extension Group, which teaches homemakers how to be more efficient at home. She also loves to refinish furniture and designs and sews all her family's clothes.

"I haven't joined any group or club but what I've benefitted from it," she laughs.

Bill, on the other hand, hasn't had time for any other hobbies or interests since he started Bilmar's market. But the soft-spoken southerner vows that this year things will be a little different.

"I've made up my mind I'm going to get more involved in community affairs and take a little time out to golf, fish, bowl and hunt," he said, nodding his head for emphasis.

And another thing is sure. He'll continue to give "Mrs. Consumer" a friendly clean atmosphere, fair prices and quality products.

"Because," as he says, "we're in the people business, not just the food business!"

will be morning presentations by city department heads, followed by tours of the city and local industries and concluding with a banquet at the Ramada Inn.

The 7 p.m. Mayor's Exchange Banquet is open to the public. Tickets are $7.50 per person and can be obtained from the City Clerk's office.

Tuesday is "World Trade Day" and again this year, the Wayne County Road Commission is offering free tours of the airport for a "behind the scenes" glimpse of the daily operations of a busy international jetport.

Buses will leave City Hall at 9:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. and tour members will visit the International Terminal, an airline flight kitchen, a cargo area and jet loading apron, as well as the possible boarding of a giant 747 cargo plane or passenger-liner by the tour group.

Wednesday, "Livelihood Day," is being sponsored this year by the newly-formed Romulus Chamber of Commerce. The Chamber is hosting a community-wide "Charter luncheon" at the Squires Restaurant in the Ramada Inn, beginning at 11:30 a.m.

Planners are looking for 300 local businessmen and private citizens to attend the luncheon and hear Jim Barrett, President of the State Chamber of Commerce, speak on a Livelihood Day topic. For ticket information, call the Chamber office at 941-5710 or 941-5711.

On Thursday, "Education Day," students from kindergarten through senior high school will be involved in numerous educational projects emphasizing Michigan — its history, land, people and products.

For example, some elementary classes are taking field trips to historical sites, while the food services class in the high school will be preparing and offering a special luncheon prepared from Michigan-grown produce only.

Also, all Romulus schools will be open to parents on Education Day, the elementary schools from 9 a.m. - 2:30 p.m., the secondary schools from 8 a.m. until 1:30 p.m.

Michigan Week nears its conclusion on Friday, "Hospitality Day," with a wide variety of booths and exhibits scheduled for Kennedy Park from 4 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Sponsored by "We the People," the day offers residents a chance to buy items or browse past booths manned by local merchants, artisans and craftsmen. They can munch on polish sausages or imported cheese or enjoy an Hungarian dance troop or belly dancing demonstration.

Organizers guarantee ample, free booth space and urge anyone interested in participating to call Midge Prybyla at 941-2356.

The week draws to a grand finale on Saturday, May 27, when one of the most vibrant and active groups, the senior citizens, host "Community Pride Day" at City Hall.

Romulus elder citizens will center their activities around a potluck picnic with varied games, contests and craft demonstrations and square-dancing filling out the day.

The oldest male and female and longest-married couple will be honored in award ceremonies as well as recognition given to essays centering on historical participate in Michigan Week '78 — Romulus style.

All nominations for oldest citizen and historical themes should be received by the Romulus Recreation Dept. no later than May 19.

So Romulus, brace yourselves, clear your calendars and plan to participate in Michigan Week '78 — Romulus style.

Voters support 'untax'

A proposed constitutional amendment to change the way schools are financed in Michigan would be approved by voters, if the election were held today, a state-wide poll of voter attitudes showed. Officials of Citizens for More Sensible Financing of Education, who released the poll, said they are "very encouraged by the strong support" the proposed Education Voucher Plan received in the poll. The citizen group is circulating petitions to place the proposed amendment on the ballot in the November election.

Conducted by DeVries and Associates Inc., a nationally-known public opinion survey firm, the poll found the quality of public education ranks among the top 10 concerns of all Michigan voters.

Participants in the DeVries poll were given a card describing in detail the proposed tuition voucher plan and asked whether they would vote for or against the proposal.

"A majority of the voters (52.6 percent) say that if the election were held today, they would vote for the amendment to eliminate the use of property taxes for schools along with the state issuing an educational voucher for each child of school age," Dr. Walter DeVries said in his analysis of the poll. Only 26.3 percent said they were opposed, while a surprisingly small number (18.6 percent) said they were undecided.

Voters gave more than a dozen reasons why they would vote for the proposal. The most frequently mentioned reason was that the proposal would bring an end to the property tax for education.

Three out of four parents (74.5 percent) with children in school who participated in the poll said they would keep their children in the same school they are now attending, if the voucher plan is approved by voters in November.

Seven out of 10 voters disagree with allegations that state financial aid for non-public schools would destroy the public school system.

The poll also showed that a majority (54.8 percent) of Michigan's voters are dissatisfied with public education and that nearly six out of 10 feel the state's present tax system is unfair. More than half (56.2 percent) of the persons who expressed dissatisfaction with public schools said they felt that way because children don't learn the basics ("they can't read, they can't spell") and because of "poor teaching."

Among those dissatisfied with public education, nearly three out of four voters (73.9 percent) feel education taxes are spent unwisely or they cannot make a judgement, while only 26.9 percent believe they are invested wisely.

One out of three voters believe more money should be spent on basics and less on non-essentials.

Cynthia J. Washington, a senior at Michigan State University, is one of eight students who tests foods the that are considered for the residence hall menus at the East Lansing University.

She taste tests menus

Eight students at Michigan State University once a week are asked to put their taste buds to the test.

Cynthia J. Washington of Romulus is a member of a food tasters panel which is responsible for deciding what types of food are placed on the menu of the residence hall cafeterias at MSU.

Each week the students try out new recipes and sample revisions of recipes already in use. They also test items from the university's central bakery, as well as any item which the university food store is considering for purchase.

Students test six to eight items a week, and rank the food items on a scale of 1 (poor) to 5 (very good) for odor, appearance, color, texture and flavor.

A food must receive a rating of 3.5 or better before it will be considered for the all-university menu, according to Helen Dunn, a foods specialist for MSU residence halls who developed the tasters panel.

Of the many items tested, about one-fourth are approved.

Although there are two seats reserved on the panel for representatives from the Residence Halls Association, students usually become members through an interest in improving the quality of the food served in their residence halls.

Ms. Washington, who represents the Residence Halls Association, finds the panel to be beneficial to her because she is planning a career in food management.

With an FHA or VA loan, escrow payments are required for property taxes and fire and hazard insurance. The maximum prepayment in any event would be for one year. If you buy a house midway through the tax year, the prepaid taxes would be half as much. On a conventional loan, the lender may not ask for escrow payments - although many now require them. Also, if you hire a lawyer, his fee may sometimes be included in the closing costs. Charges vary, but you may pay as little as $100 or as much as $500.

Week highlights handicapped woes

Next week is National Handicapped Awareness Week.

Locally, the observance will be sponsored by the Easter Seal Society of Wayne County to focus public attention on the abilities of handicapped persons, as well as their problems of coping with architectural and attitudinal barriers.

For many years the National Easter Seal Society has been a leading advocate in the campaign to eliminate manmade environmental barriers which infringe on the rights of the physically handicapped.

National Handicapped Awareness Week was launched in 1975 by the society and its affiliates throughout the United States as an intensified one-week effort to heighten public awareness of the barriers problem as the first step toward achieving the public commitment necessary to solve the problem.

Since its modest beginning four years ago, other community service groups and self-help organizations of disabled persons have cooperated in the Awareness Week activities, planned to demonstrate the discriminatory impact of barriers in their communities.

The need to change attitudes towards disabled persons is an integral part of Awareness Week programs.

"Able-bodied members of society tend to see only an individual's disability, rather than recognize that person's ability, training and experience," said Jakki Sidge, special programs director.

She pointed out that while government sources estimate there are 35 million handicapped persons in the United States, the actual number is much larger.

"All of us are handicapped at various times during our lives as the result of accidents, disease or the physical problems of aging," she added. "Increasing accessibility of buildings and their facilities will benefit the total population."

"Laws and regulations are on the books to equalize opportunity for persons with disabilities and progress is being made. But greater public awareness is needed to make sure that handicapped persons in our community can enjoy the same rights most of us take for granted."

Court ruling alters emergency food stamps issue limit

Some households may be eligible for additional food stamp benefits as the result of a recent court decision regarding emergency issuance of food stamps.

For several years, food stamp offices have been allowed to issue food stamps on an emergency basis — without first requiring full proof of eligibility for such benefits — to households with little or no income (usually less than $90 per month).

However, before food stamps could be issued, they did have to either contact a person who was not a member of the household in order to get some confirmation of the household's eligibility or have the household itself provide proof of eligibility. No household was allowed to receive emergency benefits more than once every six months.

Now a federal court has ruled that it is not legal to limit a household to emergency stamps only once every six months or to require confirmation of the household's eligibility before the emergency stamps could be issued. Very few households will be affected by this decision, because the income level needed to qualify is so low.

However, if you applied for or asked about food stamps since August 1974, you may be eligible for additional benefits or a reduction in the current purchase price, if you fit into either of the following groups:

(1) You received food stamps at no cost but did not receive them the same month you applied; or

(2) Even though your household had little or no income (this would most likely mean income of less than $90 per month), you contacted a food stamp office but did not apply, or applied but did not follow-up on your application, because you thought there could be difficulty or delay in obtaining proof of your need to receive stamps immediately.

If you think you fit in either of these groups, immediately contact the local Department of Social Services, or the U.S. Department of Agriculture at Midwest Region Food and Nutrition Service, USDA, 536 South Clark St., Chicago, Ill. 60605.

You do not have to be currently eligible for food stamps in order to get the month's worth of benefits you lost in the past.

Retirement: Meeting the cost

By MAUREEN BEATTY

There is no skirting the fact that money, or the lack of it, has a large bearing on how one feels about the retirement years.

I have talked to some men who actually were better off financially after retirement. They usually were men who had worked for years for a large company and who have pensions, stocks and bonds to supplement their Social Security. This income, along with the ending of some work related expenses, made it possible for them to start doing the things they had only dreamed of during the working years.

Now they have time to travel, golf any day they wish, renew old hobbies, see a Tiger game in the middle of the week; anything they had wanted to do, but couldn't, while they still were punching a time clock.

However, there are many more retired men who do not share the luxury of financial security. For them, time hangs heavily.

The ideal answer for a man without a pension plan would be, of course, to put X amount of dollars away each week in a special savings account, not to be touched until retirement. But we are all aware of what can happen to a savings account, if illness strikes, or some other tragedy such as a prolonged layoff occurs. And right now, with the inflation rate constantly rising, many men with good incomes would be hard pressed to put money aside each week for later years.

Consequently, many men have turned to part-time work after retirement to supplement their Social Security. Health permitting, a part-time job can be a big help, not only financially, but in keeping the retiree active and away from the television set.

Take stock of your abilities. Have you been a handyman around your house all these years? Offer your service to others at a reasonable rate. In many homes even with a male present, there is a need for outside help because of lack of time, or know-how. Have you always enjoyed working in your yard? Many working couples would gladly pay a reasonable price to have their yard beautified and cared for in the summer, so that their weekends could be free to spend as they like. Do you enjoy driving your car? How about a part-time taxi service for those who are unable to drive? (Better check with your insurance company first on this.) Have you perfected a trade or hobby well enough to teach it? Remember, any service you can offer for less than the usual price will be needed or wanted by someone.

question for any reason, it still is vitally important to remain active. The other night I called my mother long distance to wish her a happy birthday and became concerned when she answered breathlessly on my fifth try at 10 p.m. Her explanation: The senior citizen building where she lives had a birthday part that night for mom and two other residents. She was a little short of breath from dancing so much. Her age is 78.

Grow a purple waffle

You've heard of the purple cow — now hear about the purple waffle.

No, it's not a new toaster breakfast food — it's a houseplant. And Michigan State University horticulturists suggest it's ideal for a bathroom or kitchen where light is low and humidity is high.

The purple waffle (Hemigraphis 'Exotica') is a native of New Guinea. It is a trailing plant with wine red stems and metallic green leaves with red undersides. It thrives in shade.

Warm temperatures — a night minimum of 62-65 degrees and daytime temperatures of 80-85 — are ideal. High humidity is a must.

Pot in a standard houseplant potting soil and water whenever the soil surface feels dry. Never allow the soil to dry out completely, especially under high temperatures.

Fertilize every one to two months with any standard houseplant food.

This fast growing plant may be used as a specimen plant for a table or shelf, in a hanging basket or as a ground cover in a large planter.

Possible pests include white flies, mealybugs and spider mites.

Propagation is by cuttings.

It's important.

Editorial opinions

Unsigned letter hits us on recall position

The mail bag at Associated Newspapers is always an experience, but last week the opening of the mail was of more interest than usual.

Contained within the assorted-collection of material that usually greets our dedicated news editor was an unsigned note. Apparently it came from one of the disgruntled former school board members who was the victim of the wrath of the Romulus voters at the recent recall election.

The note was penned on the bottom of a Detroit Free Press article written on the subject of recall elections, and referring to the right of recall as a suburban fad.

The note simply said, "It is a shame that you had to be a part of the fad (in Romulus)."

While we at Associated Newspapers certainly can understand the disappointment that must be experienced by any elected official when defeat replaces victory, we simply cannot understand how or why any citizen of a democracy can, or for that matter, would question the absolute right of the voters to either elect or remove an official from office.

In this case, we are more than content to accept the unsigned letter for what it was probably worth, a last ditch shot at anyone who could conceivably have been supporting the recall effort. A final purging of the system, as it were. At least, that is what we hope it was.

But, if that is not what it was, than maybe the author of that unsigned piece is better out of the political scene, and the voters are vindicated for their decision.

At any rate, since there appears to still be some question in the minds of some persons relative to this paper's position on the right of recall, we will explain again.

We believe that the right of recall is fundamental to the democratic process, just as fundamental as the right of the voters to elect their representatives in the first place.

We have never defended the recall on the basis that it was either fair or just. We have defended it solely on the basis that it is the absolute right of the citizen.

How anyone who is truly dedicated to the principles of democracy can blast the citizens right of recall is beyond us. But politics generally is filled with more rhetoric than reason.

We have consistently maintained that any elected official who would oppose the citizens' right of recall represents a danger to the fundamental democratic process which has elected him. While some officials who have faced the voters wrath and recall justify their position on the basis of representing ALL OF THE PEOPLE, we have never had a look at the crystal ball that they must be using when arriving at their decisions.

That is, of course, not to say that some public officials have not been unfairly or even unjustly removed from office for nothing more serious than voting their conscience. But that is an occupational hazard that goes with the political game, and it is time for local politicians to accept the will of the people in both their election to, and possible removal from office.

Maybe, someday in the future when our communities have matured, our politicians will have also matured enough to defend the system which has elevated them to leadership. But small towns with small politicians will experience only small yields.

It is up to the voters to elect only people who are big enough to be citizens first and only politicians, later.

In the meantime, if you need additional insight into a potential candidate's stature, just ask him, "What do you think of the citizens' right of recall?"

No, the right of recall is not a fad, unless of course, democracy itself is a fad.

Editor's note:

This page in the Associated Newspapers is being made available to the residents of the communities we serve.

Anyone of any age is invited to submit an open letter to their community or to the editor of Associated Newspapers.

We will publish letters on any subject. If you feel you have a plan for solving a city problem, or wish to comment on someone else's plan, this space is being reserved for you.

If you or your group would like to address the community at large, or just an individual, this space is reserved for you.

If you think you can do it better, cheaper, faster, or with more flair, this is the place to tell everyone about it.

You are invited to send your opinions on events, or items of public interest, to the editor of Associated Newspapers, 35540 Michigan Avenue, Wayne 48184.

Names will be withheld from letters published only for very good reason. The reason must be included in the letter.

The editor reserves the right to edit and/or condense letters where necessary.

Associated Newspapers has just given you a public voice. If a story is worth telling to your neighbor, why not tell it to your whole community.

From Romulus City Hall

Oakley proposal would recover tax break dollars

I would like to commend the Romulus City Council for voting unanimously in support of a resolution I introduced several weeks ago, designed to return some of the income tax money generated by Public Act 198 to local municipalities.

Allow me to briefly explain the background of my action.

In 1974, the state legislature enacted several laws containing economic incentives which were intended to stimulate the economic development of the state by providing a more favorable business climate to corporations located in Michigan.

Among these measures was a unique piece of legislation called P.A. 198, which provided liberal tax benefits to companies wishing to modernize or build new plants in Michigan.

Specifically, the law allowed businesses to apply to a local city government for the establishment of an industrial development district.

Once established by the city council, the company could then apply for a 50 percent tax exemption over a period of twelve years to build a new plant in Michigan.

The reason these measures were needed, was because neighboring and southern states were providing some very alluring enticements of their own, including lower labor costs, tax breaks, unlimited available land, in addition to free goodies like newly-paved roads, improved or extended rail lines, and much more.

As a result of these tactics, many industries were leaving Michigan and locating elsewhere, contributing to what many developers felt was already an unattractive investment climate.

To help stem this tide, Romulus was one of the first communities in the state to grant industrial development districts.

Accordingly, companies like GM Detroit Diesel Allison and Kelsey Hayes announced expansion plans in Romulus, thus providing for many more jobs for Romulus residents in addition to expanding the industrial tax base.

Although a city benefits from these provisions in increased property taxes, the state receives an immediate benefit in the form of new income taxes.

Under my proposal, a "State Sharing Plan" would be established, whereby a portion of the additional tax money generated by P.A. 198 participants, would be returned to the municipality granting the exemption.

WILLIAM M. OAKLEY

This would go a long way toward compensating the city for the twelve years that the 50 percent exemption is in effect.

Not only is this source of revenue presently un-tapped by local governments, it would provide an added incentive to grant the industrial tax exemption in the first place.

I have contacted Senator Faust, who has agreed to sponsor legislation incorporating the provisions of the Romulus resolution.

The measure may not be happily received by state lawmakers, but I believe it is a fair and just proposal and will, if enacted, provide badly needed additional money to municipalities across the state, without cutting present services or jeopardizing future programs.

Application faulty, not principle

By DENNIS FASSETT
Managing Editor

For the past several years, May 1st has been designated as Law Day throughout the United States. Hoping to offset the traditional May Day celebrations held behind the 'Iron Curtain', Law Day was instituted by president Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1958, to provide the world with a view of this nation's dedication to individual freedom through the evenly applied concept of law.

For that reason, many units of government have set aside May 1st for the observance of law and all that the people of our free society have gained under its umbrella.

It is for that reason that Judge Thomas Smith of Westland's 18th District Court, has for the past several years sponsored Law Day essay contests for local high school students, judged by local people. The Westland Rotary Club has been the site for the awards presentation to the winners.

This year, Judge Smith chose for his essay subject: "Does the individual's right to privacy prevail over society's right to be informed during a criminal trial?"

I had agreed to Judge Smith's request to sit as one of the judges of the students' work. I was however just a little concerned about the depth of the subject chosen for the essays. While the subject of individual rights versus freedom of the press may appear straightforward, it actually encompasses many very complex questions.

I should not have been concerned. By and large the students handled the question very well. While not always totally grasping the significance of what they were writing the young authors managed to come to grips with most of the principal points of the subject.

It was the consensus opinion of those students that prompts me to comment on how they had handled the question. Following is a breakdown on the response to the essay question that could be considered to provide three possible clear positions:

1. The individual's right to privacy must always prevail.
2. The individual's right to privacy must be balanced by the public's right to be informed.
3. Society's right to be informed outweighs the individual's right to privacy.

It was interesting to note that out of the 22 essays entered in the contest, only one author felt that the judicial system should be given more latitude in controlling what a newspaper may print regarding a specific trial.

Of the remaining 21 essays, seven of the authors felt that the individual's right to privacy outweighed all other considerations. Eleven authors felt that the individual's privacy must be a consideration in the degree of freedom allowed the press to cover the trial. But probably the largest disappointment was in the fact that only three of the authors apparently recognized the essential principle embodied in the constitution's guarantee of a free press.

A common thread running through all of the essays in each group contained the concern that the individual, who may not even be guilty of the crime charged, would by the very fact of a trial, be judged guilty by his friends and neighbors. But it was the way that the authors addressed this concern that was of particular interest.

Those writers whom I have listed in group one felt that the accused individual should be protected to the exclusion of society's right to be informed. Writers in group two supported limited control over the press' ability to report the identity of those charged with crime.

And those in group three, while understanding the potential problems stemming from unlimited press coverage, felt that limitation on 'freedom of the press' carried with it a large potential for abuse, far overshadowing the possible damage to the individual.

Earlier, I stated that I was disappointed because only three of the authors (about 13 percent) felt that freedom of the press was absolutely essential.

I was disappointed because, out of the more than 200 students who were invited to enter the contest, those 22 who did, probably represented some of the best students at the schools, and only three, or 1.5 percent felt that freedom of the press is essential.

Why? Well, my guess is that the students had a difficult time separating principle from the application of principle.

Many of the essays contained language to the effect that 'someone' should protect the rights of the individual, but that someone was rarely identified. Too often that type of logic has come back to haunt its advocates.

In pre-war Germany of 1938, the citizens found that someone. But, Adolf Hitler succumbed to absolute power that absolutely corrupts. The world should never forget!

True, newspapers have been guilty of excesses. They have also been guilty of deliberate sensationalism in order to boost sagging sales, but that has not been the norm. Most have fought to provide the citizens of this democracy with unrestricted access to all of the news, not just the news that the government decided was fit for public consumption.

So, if someone must protect the rights of the individual, I would much prefer to see that responsibility left in the hands of hundreds rather than in the hands of just a few, even if the hundreds must be the newspaper editors across our country.

I would hope that those 22 students who chose to express themselves so well on this subject, simply remember: A principle should not be the target of attack if it's the application of that principle that is faulty. After all, it is not the principle of freedom of speech which is at fault when someone jokingly yells 'fire' in a crowded building.

I did not write that letter

To the editor:

I am writing this letter in reply to a letter, which appeared in the Romulus Roman's Readers' Open Forum last week (May 3, 1978), criticizing the Romulus Recreation Department and signed Tom Zbikowski, Romulus.

I (Tom Zbikowski) did not write that letter.

Rescue crew thanked

To the Editor:

On Wednesday April 19 the Romulus Fire Department and Rescue Squad were called to Cory Elementary School to rescue a boy (my son) stuck in a tree.

The boy was not hurt but very frightened, especially when they had to use a very noisy piece of equipment to pry him out.

My thanks go to the great group of men who were so thoughtful of my son and his feelings.

I sincerely hope I never have to call upon these men again but if I do I'm assured the best there is will be here.

Doris L. Anderson

I was the one instrumental in getting the women to break ties with the Jaycees and deal directly with the city. The women paid the city $150 per team for a 14 game schedule, received complete schedules on April 24, 1978, will have two umpires per game, and have received total cooperation from the Romulus Recreation Dept.

Now to the person who wrote the "forged" letter.

I know who you are and you will be hearing from me, unless you come forward and publicly apologize to me.

Wrestling—non English

To the Editor:

Recently, for many of the Belleville area, an inspiring series of events jarred our daily routines.

The Belleville Wrestling Booster Club hosted a lively group of non-English speaking free stylers and their sponsors in a cultural exchange. Both groups, without words, communicated a friendship, trust and generosity that was total.

What was not total was community and school participation. Many missed out on being part of something truly uplifting. The parents, teachers and particularly the many students who did come out to meet our German friends saw and felt good things that cannot be written here. It had nothing to do with wrestling or sports. If only we could keep that magic.

One hard working lady engineered the whole project and to her we are all truly grateful. Thanks, Sharon!

Thanks also to the many generous "foster" families, six unselfish Belleville drivers, Landmark Restaurant, McDonald's, Spaghetti Bender, Trenton High School and Coach Stallings, Belleville Kiwanis, Coy-Kendall and Belleville Flowers, Mr. Shipman of Garden City Schools, Wayne-Westland Schools and Boosters, The Ypsilanti Press, Belleville teachers who welcomed our visitors, especially Mrs. Sizemore, Mr. Malecek, Mr. Miller and Mr. Florido, the many people who helped in so many ways and fans from all over the area.

Belleville students in particular showed a caring-sharing attitude that makes a struggle for them worthwhile. Way to go Belleville!

Cost of empty hospital beds eyed by House

By THOMAS H. BROWN
State Representative
37th District

The rising cost of health care is a serious problem. Such costs now represent about $1 out of every $12 we pay for all goods and services produced in the United States. Here in Michigan, each one of us will spend, on the average, about $550 this year to pay for necessary health services.

Although all of us feel the effects of higher health care prices, through our taxes, the dollars we pay to buy health insurance or the money we spend to buy health services, the burden is greatest on those of us who must depend on government programs to provide needed health services or go without, the poor and the elderly.

In the past, Michigan legislators have often been in the position of having to react to increasing health care costs either by increasing taxes or reducing services. Neither of these choices is a very easy one for any of us to make. Last year, however, members of the Legislature organized a special task force composed of people from private industry, labor and government to look at what else could be done to reduce health care costs.

As one of its major recommendations, the task force suggested that the Legislature establish a plan to reduce the supply of excess or empty hospital beds in Michigan. Excess hospital beds were chosen because they are an unnecessary expense and, given the high cost of hospital stay, the savings gained from reducing excess beds could be substantial.

Currently in Michigan, we have between 5 and 7 thousand beds more than we need to provide high quality hospital care. There are a number of reasons for this. First, many people have moved out of our cities into the suburbs, leaving a reduced number of patients who use our inner city hospitals. Additionally, fewer people are being born so our population is not growing as it once was. Also, we have more services that are being provided in clinics and doctors' offices with fewer people needing to be hospitalized.

The existence of excess beds contributes to unnecessary hospital costs because there are certain costs that must be paid regardless of whether or not the bed is filled or empty. Also, when there is a bed available there is often a great deal of pressure placed on physicians to put a patient in that bed, even though that person may be treated successfully elsewhere at a lower cost.

The Office of Health and Medical Affairs, the health planning arm of state government, has estimated that, at a minimum, it costs over $30,000 per year to maintain each of these beds. The Office estimates that the current excess bedding problem costs Michigan residents over $200 million per year. That represents money that is being spent in the health care area that is not providing needed services to Michigan residents.

In response to the problem, the Legislature has developed a bill (HB 4491) to establish a plan to remove these beds. The plan is unique in that it establishes the local community as the primary element in the planning process. Some highlights of the plan are:

1. Planning for the reduction of excess hospital beds will be done at the local level. Although the Department of Public Health will be responsible for identifying those areas of the state where excess hospital beds exist, the responsibility for developing plans to reduce these beds will be assigned to the local health planning agencies.
2. One major intent of the bill is to begin to get hospitals to cooperate and to share their services. In the past, most hospitals have operated reasonably independently of one another, even though in many cases they have served the same residents in a community. The result has been that many of these facilities perform similar functions where it would be more economical to have them share responsibilities in serving community residents. The bill will hopefully provide an opportunity for hospitals to begin to work together in a more cost effective manner.
3. The bill provides for a five year time frame in which to accomplish the necessary reduction in beds. The intent of the bill is to provide a long enough period of time to insure that the bed reductions will not disrupt the delivery of medical care to the community and will not jeopardize the hospital's ability to provide that care.
4. Areas that have less than 25 excess beds will be exempt from the planning process. This provision will insure that many of the rural areas, where closing beds will not result in significant cost savings, will not be included in the legislation. The planning activities provided for in the bill will not be required in these areas.
5. A committee will be established to address the financial and other problems associated with removing excess hospital beds. This provision will insure that hospitals will have the financial resources necessary to remove excess hospital capacity without jeopardizing their ability to provide high quality medical services.

This legislation is very important to all of us. If we can identify areas where we are spending our health care dollar unwisely and move to eliminate such expenditures we will have more of that dollar available to provide essential services to those who need them. This is our major legislative goal.

FMG's fill void

By RUSS TUTTLE
Director, Community Relations
Peoples Community Hospital Authority

In the United States today, something approaching 30 percent of the practicing physicians are FMG's (Foreign Medical Graduates).

It's probably obvious, but just in case, an FMG is a person who graduated from a medical school in another country, say Canada or Germany, and then emigrated to the U.S. to begin a career in medicine.

In this column, I want to write about a man who is properly an FMG; but, there's an interesting twist to his story.

Gust Petropoulos, MD, was born in Detroit and lived in the area until he was age 7.

"My father was a businessman. He packed and sold lunches to workers at the Budd Company plant. In the middle 1930's, the country was caught up in the depression, and my father's business began to fail. Father followed the traditions of the old country; he sent my mother, my brother and sister, and myself back to Greece until such time as he could recoup and return us to the States."

Like many dreams, it didn't quite work that way and Gust Petropoulos spent his adolescence in Athens, Greece. He graduated from high school, and because he was an American, he was drafted into the U.S. Army in 1945 just at the conclusion of World War II.

He finished his military service and then entered the University of Athens for pre-med and medical school.

Dr. Petropoulos returned to the U.S. and began a private practice in Ypsilanti in 1957. During the time he was in private practice, he spent one year in the Beyer Memorial Hospital emergency service.

"Emergency rooms 20 years ago did not have the sophistication we all take for granted today. And rescue service was, at best, primitive compared to contemporary standards."

"As demands for service began to increase, many physicians stopped making house calls. It became clear to me that emergency rooms were beginning to evolve into a combined emergency-clinical service. That trend continues to this day, and perhaps 60 or 70 percent of all patients seen in the emergency room are classified as clinical cases — colds, influenza, sore throats, and yes, even hang nails."

Dr. Petropoulos said that as emergency rooms began to see more and more clinical cases, it became evident that the physicians working in that service would have to develop skills and techniques beyond those employed in private practice. Additionally, cases of severe trauma were on the increase, and again it was obvious that specialized training was indicated for emergency room personnel.

In 1962, Dr. Petropoulos met with John J. Freysinger who at that time was the Administrator at Beyer Memorial to discuss a concept of Mr. Freysinger's. The concept was to establish emergency medicine as a separate discipline. The concept became reality, and thus a program was established in Michigan — the second state in the Union to set up such a program.

"It's safe to say that John Freysinger was the leader in this effort in Michigan to upgrade the skills of the emergency room physician," said Dr. Petropoulos.

Mr. Freysinger, incidentally, is now the Executive Director of the PCHA.

Dr. Petropoulos came to Annapolis Hospital in 1964, and he is currently the Chief of the emergency service and President of the emergency room PC (Professional Corporation) responsible for staffing at both Annapolis and the new PCHA Heritage Hospital.

"I'm convinced that the emergency room is the workshop of the physician. The challenge can be exhilarating. Consider, for example, the case of a trauma victim who is brought in comatose. You as the primary physician have never seen this person before, and thus have no medical history to guide you. You must make a diagnosis, and you must make that diagnosis quickly in a life-threatening situation. You call upon your medical training and sometimes on your intuition. The challenge is demanding, and the success is refreshing."

Approximately 50,000 patients are seen each year in the Annapolis emergency room; it is clearly the busiest of the many services offered.

As we concluded the interview, Dr. Petropoulos said, "Be sure to give credit to the valuable professional staff we have working with us. Without those dedicated people I'm afraid we'd never be able to boast the success record that we have."

Students wish Lothar a 'speedy recovery'

NOTE: Last fall, Lothar Konietzko, chief photographer for Associated Newspapers, was critically injured in an automobile accident in Wayne. Although he lay near death for several days following the accident, he has been recovering slowly at home.

ANP's chief photographer, Lothar Konietzko, pays 'his home away from home' a visit.

During his hospital stay and his convalescence at home, many pupils in the communities served by ANP have written letters to Lothar, urging him a speed recovery.

The pupils have a warm spot in their hearts for ANP's photographer because of his many friendly visits to their classrooms and his taking of a few extra minutes with them. The following are a few of the many letters forwarded to Lothar.

To the Editor:

The few comments that follow are written on behalf of the boys and girls in my third grade at Wildwood School. They were all surprised and thrilled to see Mr. Lothar Konietzko, the Eagle photographer, walk on his crutches in the classroom unexpected.

He told the students how much their letters had helped him while in the hospital as a result of a serious car accident.

Their notes accompanying this letter explain how they happened to know about the accident and what followed.

In their cards they told Mr. Konietzko that they were disappointed not having their play and story in the paper. But what they wanted to tell him more was that all of them and their parents had joined hands in the Gym room and prayed silently for him to recover and be home with his family for Thanksgiving dinner.

Now they were happy to know that their prayer had been answered. They were told over and over, as Mr. Konietzko showed them their hand-made colorful cards, that he found strength in each card as he had time to read and reread, every card many times. What a true reward for these boys and girls. Mr. Konietzko, was your humble effort to come and share your experiences with them.

Yours was a lesson that will live with them for years to come. You can be assured of the worthy impression you left with the youngsters.

May God continue to strengthen and keep you in His love.

Sincerely yours,
Paul Nastoff

To the Editor:

After lunch as we were doing our work then Mr. Nastoff went down to the office and he told to guess. Who he was.

Then Stacey got his name when he had crutches we were surprised when he came in he came in to thank us for sending cards. It helped him to be strong and to get better he was so happy to come in we all believed him.

Your friend
Jeff Mc

To the Editor:

Something special happened at school this afternoon.

The man that was supposed to take our picture of the Thanksgiving play he could not make it because he had an accident and had to go to the hospital.

We made cards for him. Get well please we love you. He looked at the cards everyday and that gave him strength to get well.

Your friend
Rainy Gilroy

To the Editor:

Today the man who got hurt on the day of our play. We were surprised that he came. His name is Mr. Konietzko he was there to tell us how proud he was of us. He said we made him get better by giving him cards and he told us he had a beset metelin his leg and on the hip.

By Francis Schaefer

To the Editor:

After lunch we sat down in our seats. Then Mr. Nastoff got called down to the office and when Mr. Nastoff came back, with was a man with crutches.

He had an accident and he had to go to the hospital. He told us about the war and how he lost his thumb and how he hurt his leg.

He said that we gave him strength to pull through. He told us that he was sorry that he could not make it for our Thanksgiving play to take our picture and I am glad that he pulled through and is well again.

Your friend,
Doug Strehl

To the Editor:

After lunch we sat in our seat and did our math. Then it was science and we were talking about mold when Mr. Nastoff got called down to the office.

There was a man waiting for him he had crutches. They came down to the room and we talked to him we had to guess his name it was Mr. Konietzko the photographer that was supposed to come in November for our play but he got in an accident and he did not make it.

Jessica H.

To the Editor:

This afternoon, Lothar Konietzko, the Photographer for the Westland Eagle Newspaper came to our class.

On November 18 Mr. Konietzko had a car accident was in the hospital for Thanksgiving.

The day he had his accident he was supposed to take a picture of us in a Thanksgiving play. Since he didn't come we made cards for him. He got power from our cards and he is alive. He was very badly hurt too.

Roberta Farkas

To the Editor:

Mr. Nastoff was called on the speaker and he came back with a man. Mr. Nastoff said that we could guess who he was and Mr. Nastoff gave us a hint and Stacey guessed it.

And he was the Photographer and he got in a car accident he came in our room with crutches. He was going to take our picture for Thanksgiving in November.

He came April 3, 1978 we made him some cards when he was in the hospital he thanked us for doing that.

Andrea Robinson

To the Editor:

I am sorry that I was sick on Monday. You are a nice man. I hope you can come to the school again.

I like to see you.

Your friend,
Wally Kline

To the Editor:

The other day when we were doing science we heard the secretary at the office on the speaker she said "Mr. Nastoff come to the office thank you."

When he came back a man who gave us a clue and I guessed who he was. He was the man who was supposed to take our picture at the Thanksgiving play but he got in a car accident. He almost got killed in Germany.

Now he had lung and heart damage and a piece of metal in his leg.

We made him cards that pulled him through. We hope to see him soon for our 4th of July play.

Your friend,
Stacey Synoulec

Emergency energy assist limit extended to May 20

According to Michigan Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District), local residents have until May 20 to apply for funds under the Emergency Energy Assistance Program.

The program is designed to help senior citizens and low-income families defray unusually high fuel costs due to the extremely harsh winter just experienced in Michigan and other states.

Originally approved by Congress 14 months ago, the program funneled more than $55 million into Michigan and other midwestern states after the severe winter of 1976-77.

It has been expanded this year to cover not only fuel bills but minor storm damage, necessary expenses such as blankets and clothing, and other energy conservation costs.

Deadline to apply for assistance based on 1977-78 heating bills originally was set for May 1, but has now been extended to May 20.

"I am extremely pleased at this extension," Congressman Ford said, "because many eligible citizens have not yet taken advantage of the program to help pay their bills from last winter."

Funds under the Emergency Energy Assistance Program are allocated to the various states under a formula which considers family income, differences in temperatures from normal years, fuel costs, unemployment, and other factors. The maximum payment allowed to any one household is $250.

Residents of the out-county area who might be eligible can contact Communities United for Action, Inc. (CUFA), the officially designated agency for the area. The telephone number is 292-2110, ext. 55.

Educators cite classroom discipline as a 'problem'

Classroom discipline is the most pressing problem for area teachers according to the largest survey of educators done recently in Wayne County.

The Wayne County Intermediate School District sent questionnaires to some 25,000 teachers and administrators asking them to define their major concerns. A total of 15,213 teachers and 1,560 administrators responded.

The purpose of the survey was to determine in what areas teachers and administrators would like to have inservice training. The intermediate district plans or conducts such workshops as one of its many services to the 36 local school districts in Wayne County.

Asked to list their top priorities for inservice topics, the teachers listed discipline first with reading and language arts a close second.

A somewhat unexpected result of the survey was that the education of gifted pupils was ranked No. 5 and that health and nutrition ranked No. 10.

The choices of the administrators closely followed the teachers' choices although they were not exactly the same.

Teachers also were asked in what inservice training they would participate. About half of the teachers responding indicated they would be willing to be involved in such training.

Dr. Samuel Mangione, coordinator for general education for the intermediate district, said the survey would be important in the planning of future teacher centers to be established in the county with financing by the State Department of Education. Dr. Mangione was director of the present survey which was conducted during December and January.

He noted that the survey results would be valuable for reports on inservice needs requested by the State Department of Education. A Professional Development Advisory Council in each of the 58 intermediate school districts in the state is asked to identify its needs as a basis for the allocation of state funds.

All of the survey results have been put on the computers maintained by the intermediate district and the results, down to the level of each school building in the county, can be obtained by the local school districts.

When 'the bug' hits

'Leisure labors' head for the outdoors

If the gardening bug doesn't get you by the end of this month, you must be immune! Here are some tips on timely lawn and garden activities from Michigan State University Extension specialists:

- Plant tuberous begonias and caladiums outdoors in shaded areas.
- Plant new chrysanthemums and divide old ones. Pinch the tips to produce bushy, compact plants.
- Fertilize spring flowering bulbs before or during bloom. Remove flowers heads after blossoms fade, but let the leaves remain on the bulbs until they die. They help build up the bulb for next year's blossoms.
- Plan dahlias, cannas and summer flowering bulbs through the end of the month. Planting gladioli now through the end of June should give you a continuous supply of cut flowers through the summer.

—Fertilize roses and begin to spray them once a week with an all-purpose rose spray to keep diseases and insects under control. Start spraying as soon as new growth appears and continue through August.

—Plant petunias, impatiens, wax begonias, alyssum, etc., after the danger of frost is past.

—Apply summer mulches to flower beds and borders.

—Prune away unwanted sucker growth around raspberries when the shoots are about a foot high.

—Thin the fruit on apple and peach trees two to three weeks after petals fall so that individual fruits are about eight inches apart. This should result in bigger, higher quality fruit.

—Maintain a regular spray program to protect fruit trees against diseases and insects.

—Remove the May blooms from everbearing strawberries.

—Help vegetable transplants adjust to outdoor conditions by setting flats outdoors in a sunny, protected spot during the day and carrying them indoors at night for 10-14 days before setting plants into the garden.

—Transplant in the evening or on a cloudy day to give transplants a chance to get over the initial shock before they have to withstand hot direct sunlight.

—Plant onions, lettuce, radishes, spinach, beets and carrots for the second and third times.

—Hold off planting tomatoes, peppers, squash, pumpkins, eggplant, beans, sweet corn and cumpers until after the danger of frost is past; or plan on providing them frost protection.

—Mulch or cultivate the vegetable garden to control weeds. To cultivate, chop off weeds just under the soil surface. Deeper cultivation can injure crop roots and bring weed seeds up to the surface where they can germinate and grow.

—When all danger of frost is past, set houseplants—except African violets—outdoors in a sheltered spot. Avoid exposing them to direct sun—they'll burn. Check them frequently for insects and water as needed. Houseplants exposed to drying breezes may need water more often than they required it indoors.

—Plant amaryllis bulbs outdoors for the summer. Sinking the pots into the garden soil in a shaded spot will reduce moisture loss.

—Check ornamentals for tent caterpillars. Remove the caterpillars and their tents or spray with Bacillus thuringiensis, a bacterial disease that will control the caterpillars.

—Check pine trees for sawfly larvae. They look like caterpillars and raise their heads when disturbed. Control them with a spray of malathion or Sevin.

Weak, old, damaged or poorly placed branches should be removed from spring flowering shrubs as soon as they have finished blooming. Retain the young, vigorous growth that will bear next year's flowers.

—Remove old flower heads from rhododendrons after they have bloomed.

—Watch for spring and fall cankerworm larvae devouring the foliage of maple, hickory, beech, elm and cherry. Larvae travel with an inchworm motion. A spray of Bacillus thuringiensis will control them.

—Early in the month, plant dormant trees and shrubs.

—Water a new or renovated lawn as needed to help it get established before hot weather.

—Late in May or early in June, give an established lawn its first nitrogen application of the year.

Avoid fertilizing earlier than this. MSU research has shown that early spring fertilization predisposes some turfgrass species to disease.

—Go mushroom hunting. May is morel month in Michigan.

Garden Doctor says...

This week the Garden Doctor talks about:

Q: My African violets have patches of white mold on the leaves. How should I get rid of it?

A: If the mold looks like bits of cotton and feels like cotton candy you are probably seeing the egg sacs of mealy bugs. They can be controlled by using a pyrethrum spray or, if only a few are in evidence, touch each of them with a bit of cotton dipped in rubbing alcohol. White mold may grow on the soil and is indicative of too much moisture. Skim it off and allow the soil surface to dry between waterings.

Q: What varieties of tomatoes are good producers in Michigan?

A: For early tomatoes try New Yorkers, Springset or Red Pak. For midseason choose Setmore, Jetstar, Campbell 1327 or Heinz. For a late crop Superdwarf, Burpee or Manalucie have been rated high. Most of these are resistant to both Fusarium and Verticillium wilts.

Q: I have tried re-seeding dead patches in the lawn many times before but seldom successfully. What is going wrong?

There are several possibilities. First, the seeds must be in close contact with the soil. That means thatch must be completely raked away. It's hard to distinguish soil from thatch by visual observations. Feel the soil to be certain the thatch is completely removed. Then roughen the soil to a depth of a couple of inches. Sprinkle on the seed at a rate of about 20 seeds per square inch. Cover with 1/4 inch of soil by either raking lightly or sprinkling on some soil. The only chore that remains is to keep the surface soil constantly moist until roots are well established.

Q: We have a chain link fence that I'd like to cover with vegetation. Can you recommend a vine that will provide a dense screening effect?

A: There is more than one to meet your need. Common Dutchmanspipe, Aristolochia durior, is a rapid grower with large heart-shaped leaves that create a fast, dense screen. A second possibility is Virginia Creeper, Parthenocissus quinquefolia. It blends well with a rustic landscape, but may be too rampant for small yards. A hardy grower for this purpose is Ampelopsis brevipedunculata, commonly called porcelain berry. It is a moderate grower that has clusters of berries in the fall.

Urban landscape requires small, but durable trees

Small trees for the urban landscape always are in demand, but, unfortunately, not always easy to find. Most are worth making the effort to find, though.

Good trees for city situations should be both pest (insect and disease) resistant, drought and pollution tolerant. Some not often seen, but with all these qualities, are:

Hop Hornbeam (Ostrya virginiana) has a straight trunk with shreddy bark, a dense crown and leaves that look like an elm. The autumn color is brilliant yellow, and the tree is medium sized to no more than 50-60 feet at maturity, and usually under 40 feet.

Another is Callery Pear (Pyrus calleryana) a small growing tree (30 feet), or Dwarf Korean Callery Pear (20 feet), with insignificant fruit and good flowering habit. Its shiny foliage turns maroon to reddish purple in the fall. Its dense pyramidal shaped crown makes it ideal for narrow or restricted areas.

Golden-rain Tree (Koelreuteria paniculata) is a small growing tree with beautiful upright panicles of yellow flowers in early July. It develops a graceful rounded crown and has a maximum height of 30 feet. Don't confuse this with the touchy, less than hardy Golden Chain Tree (Laburnum wateriri, often called vassili).

Many Flowering Crabs (Malus) fit the situation, but lists of resistant varieties, clones and species should be obtained from the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service before selecting these. Flower color, fruit, shape of crown and size vary greatly, along with pest resistance.

Hedge Maple (Acer Compestre) will grow in many areas where Sugar, Norway and other maple will not do well. This small, 25-foot tree, when grown with a single stem, is fine for small ornamental use in urban or city environments.

In addition to these there are others which could be substituted for the Mountain Ash, which is defoliated by apple scab fungus disease and killed or damaged by Fire Blight bacterial disease.

White or Paper Birch, both European and American, has been increasingly hard to keep alive and healthy because of both Bronze Borer and Birch Leaf Miner. Consider use of River Birch (Betula nigra) or even Paper Bark Maple (Acer griseum) as good substitutes. Both the River Birch and Paper Bark Maple exfoliate the paper-thin bark and are cinnamon brown instead of white. However, they are equally as attractive and interesting as any of the White Birches. The Paper Bark Maple is the smallest (25 feet), whereas the River Birch can become quite large (80 to 90 feet).

Littleleaf Linden (Tilia chordeata), especially its cultivars such as Chancellor, Greenspire or Rancho, are fine for shade, reaching a height of 35 to 40 feet. It forms a dense, pyramidal crown with dark waxy leaves. Its flowering habit, not often mentioned, makes it attractive in late spring. Individual flowers are small and feathery, but present in such large numbers on healthy trees they become a creamy white mound when in full flower.

Silver Linden (Tilia tomentosa), a smaller tree (25 feet), forms an even denser crown and has the added attraction of leaves that appear silver on the undersides. Fully hardy and adaptable to almost any soil type, it develops a small, oval shaped crown.

European Hornbeam (Carpinus betulus), a tree which reaches, at the most, 30 feet, has a dense crown and is available in a columnar form (columaris) or a fastigate form (fastigiata). A fine, pest resistant, small tree that adapts well to any soil. Foliage generally is dark and shiny.

The Rotating Pulpit

'Vendors' spread word

New York City, that teeming, bustling city with its millions of people, is the city where I was born. Although our family moved out when I was only six, I recall certain scenes from my earliest years.

One indelible memory is that of the colorful street vendors. Straining behind their pushcarts, they would come laden with what seemed to me to be the biggest, shiniest apples and most appetizing watermelons that were ever grown. I recall hearing these men, mostly Italians, screaming at the top of their lungs "bananas", "potatoes", "tomatoes". And again, "bananas"...

Those street vendors with their pushcarts have long since passed out of the scene, but they are a reminder to me of a passage of Scripture found in the Old Testament. The prophet Isaiah remembered the street vendors of his day and he uses that same approach to communicate an important message to the people of his time. The words are recorded in Isaiah, Chapter 55.

"Ho, every one who thirsts, come to the waters; and he who has no money, come, buy and eat! Come, buy wine and milk without money and without price."

This must have been an offer that caused great excitement and even puzzlement to his listeners. They used to sell water through the streets and a certain price was charged for so valuable an item. But here, Isaiah, the prophet who came to the people of Jerusalem as a street vendor, announces that people can come to receive the basic necessities of life for nothing. More, they could receive wine and milk without money and without price.

As they listened further, they hear him ask some disturbing questions: "Why do you spend your money for that which is not bread and your labor for that which does not satisfy? Listen diligently to me, and eat what is good and delight yourself in fatness. Incline your ear, and come to me. Hear that your soul may live, and I will make you an everlasting covenant, my steadfast love."

Isaiah gives an explanatory word in stating further, "Seek the Lord while He may be found, call upon Him while He is near; let the wicked man forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; let him return to the Lord that God may have mercy on him. Let him return to our God for He will abundantly pardon."

If these words seem unfamiliar and perhaps even quaint, they actually convey a message that has stood the test of time since Isaiah wrote them more than 2½ centuries ago. He knew that the people of their day were going to have to scratch for a living, work day and night to make ends meet, and all the while they would be looking for something that would meet the deepest needs which they felt within themselves as human beings.

As we turn our focus back to the contemporary scene in the 20th century, we see there is a lot of bad news all around. "Time" magazine last week carried a featured article on inflation. They reported "since the late 1960s, inflation has first crept, then leaped upward, expanding its list of victims to include just about the whole of U.S. society. A rare investor, rich and savvy enough to buy renaissance paintings, Chinese ceramics, or African diamonds, still may make money out of inflation, but for almost everyone else the inexorable rise in prices makes economic life a debilitating race in which one must run ever harder just to stay even. The workers' raises have become a hollow joke; for him the '70s has been a decade of nearly zero growth in living standards. Weekly wages of the average non-supervisory employee have jumped 86 percent since 1967, but because of high inflation and high taxes, real spendable earnings have increased only 2.8 percent. The squeezed, middle class homeowner often reaps little or nothing from the rise in value of his house; if he sells, he will have to buy another that probably costs even more for the same or less room. Many of the poor have been denied the opportunity to join the middle class because the cost of doing so keeps going up... For young marrieds, inflation makes the early years more of a struggle than ever... The frustration and fear of the future bred by inflation are social poison. "Time" continues. "An inflationary spiral could well lead to a shattering recession."

In addition to these concerns, we have heard from the U.S. commissioner on education admissions that the average man has known for a long time. That is, the educational system in America is no longer that magnificent success story it appeared to be for so long. As the crime rates in our schools have risen, the SAT scores have declined. The embattled farmer has just about given up in his struggle to make a fair living for his efforts, and thus he is added to the ever increasing number of minority and special interest groups that feel a hopelessness regarding the future.

The average American is surrounded by gloomy news and dire predictions of worse to come. Desperately, he seeks for release or relief from his dilemmas, and so he turns to answers which Isaiah has described as those "which do not satisfy."

What are your routes of escape from the harsh realities of life? The world offers its array of answers, many of which are destructive to themselves. They range from drugs to alcohol. Perhaps the answers are neither illegal or harmful in themselves, but history does tell us that when a given culture turns increasingly to escape routes, however acceptable in themselves, the remedies are mere placebos and will never cure the basic problem within the society.

The symptoms of America's ills — high divorce rates, broken homes, drugs and alcohol, and an inordinate investment of time and money in every form of amusement, — are all evidences of man yearning for meaning, for relief from his problems and release from its pressures. The present dilemmas of man and his scrambling efforts for solutions are not new. The problems are as old as man himself. That is why Isaiah takes the role of the street vendor and cries aloud to the people of his time and to us today: "Ho, every one who thirsts, come to the waters; and he who has no money, come, buy and eat! Why do you spend your money for that which is not bread and your labor for that which does not satisfy? Seek the Lord while He may be found, call upon Him while He is near." St. Augustine made an important observation when he stated, "Man was made for God, and he always will be restless until he finds his rest in God."

It is marvellous to be a Christian in this day. A Christian is not a person who is delivered from the many problems of life. A Christian is one who, having known God in the person of his son, Jesus Christ, has now discovered answers to the basic philosophical questions that besiege man. "Where did I come from? Why am I here? Where am I going?" When man has discovered the answers to these questions, he has found his way to the love of God in Christ. He knows that from the beginning of all time, he has been loved by God his Father and that now he is able to walk in conscious, happy fellowship with his Creator. Further, he is a member of that loving community of faith called the Christian Church. It is again a marvellous thing to not only walk in fellowship with God, but to walk in conscious happy fellowship with other people who have come to new life in Jesus Christ.

From a pastor's viewpoint, I have noted there are many people who have all of the world's good, position, popularity, and everything that is supposed to make the good life. Many of these people are miserable. I also have been in homes and at hospital bedsides where people have been suffering, physically and in other ways. Often these are people who are happy because they have recognized that when God offered them Himself, He gave them meaning and purpose and something of God's very presence, all of which have given them both something to live for and to die for.

Warbler migration viewed

Warbler migration is the title of a family nature walk to be held at the nature study area of Oakwoods Metropark near Flat Rock on Sunday at 9 a.m.

Park naturalist Bob Wittersheim will assist visitors in the discovery and identification of many wood warblers during the peak of their migration. Persons should have binoculars to best enjoy sights of these small birds.

This free program is for families and individuals, but advanced registration is required. Vehicle entry permits also are required.

For registration or information contact the nature center of Oakwoods Metropark at 782-1255 (Fat Rock).

Mothers: Some are remembered

Mother's Day is Sunday — a day to honor women of "strength and inspiration," according to President Wilson who proclaimed the first such occasion in 1914.

If you're among the millions of Americans who will dispatch a Mother's Day greeting card, the chances are you'll know exactly to whom you're sending it. To your own mother, of course. Or to a grandmother or favorite aunt.

In this age of "instant celebrities," some mothers are better known than others. But over the years, many mothers have gone down in history. They're remembered in fact and fancy.

The following is a roster of memorable mothers compiled by the National Association of Greeting Card Publishers. See if you can guess their identities by the clues in each description. The names of the mothers are listed at the end of this story by number corresponding to each clue.

- (1) She was completely out of dog food.
- (2) She was given to knitting, a shawl and the comfort of her rocker.

(3) She is beloved by Italians.

(4) She achieved a pharmaceutical breakthrough for ocean travelers.

(5) She speaks the language she knows best.

(6) Farmers love her.

(7) Her footwear was cramped and she was confounded by her children.

(8) In the army, her husband was top-rank.

(9) She was truly a saint.

(10) She was "the mother of us all."

Here are the answers: (1) Mother Hubbard. (2) Whistler's Mother. (3) "Mama Mia!" (4) Mother Sill and her seasickness pill. (5) Mother Tongue. (6) Mother Earth. (7) The little old lady who lived in the shoe. (8) Martha Washington, "the mother of our country." (9) Mother Cabrini. (10) Susan B. Anthony as described in the libretto of Gertrude Stein from the opera, "The Mother of Us All," by composer Virgil Thompson.

Happy Mother's Day!

How Can I Help My Niece Accept Her Mother's Death?

When a parent dies, most young children feel their world has come to an end. They have many questions and new feelings which can cause added pain and sorrow.

Helping your niece realize that others have had to adjust to such great loss may be one way to comfort her — and you!

Learning to Say Goodbye, by Eda Le Shan, is an easy-to-read, excellent book to help you provide the comfort your niece may be seeking. It contains descriptions of how children have felt when they lost a parent under many different circumstances. One of these is sure to be similar to your niece's own experience.

The book is designed so it could be read to or by your niece to give her assurances and lasting comfort. Your problems are our concern. Please feel free to call on us.

Health food

These unidentified students at John Glenn High School in Westland are not trying to thicken waistlines. As a matter of fact, the girls are experimenting with foods that might lead to leaner frames, but more importantly, healthier bodies. Sponsored by the Human Ecology Department at the high school, the Alternate Snack Counter was organized by two teachers of food-related classes, Nancy Davis and Sharon Wells, together with their students, spread classroom tables with a variety of natural foods.

According to Wells, more than 450 students made the program a success and steady feedback on the value of nutritious snack foods is prompting coordinators to consider a daily program on a more permanent basis. This year's one-day program was the second one for the school. The snack counter idea is an off-shoot from National Food Day. Begun four years ago, the purpose of the program is to encourage wise eating habits.—ANP photos by Tom Greenwood.

EPA schedules meet on wastewater plan

The chairman of the Wayne County Board of Public Works is urging public attendance at a wastewater control meeting scheduled by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) for 7 p.m. tomorrow at Plymouth City Hall, 201 S. Main,

Plymouth. At the meeting, EPA representatives will describe the process by which the agency is assessing the environmental impact of various alternatives for solving the sewage control problem in the area which is at the "critical crisis stage."

To the Editor:
It all started after lunch. We had settled down and started to work when the loud speaker called our teacher to come to the office. When he returned to the room, he had a man with him that was walking on crutches. Some of the classmates tried to guess who he was. Stacey Synowiec guessed that he was the photographer.
His name is Mr. Konietzko. He works for the Westland Eagle.
During Nov. our class put on a play about Thanksgiving. Mr. Konietzko was going to take some pictures. But he got in a car accident the day before the play.
He was in the hospital the day of the play. When we finished the play we found out what had happened.
So we all joined hands and said a silent prayer for Mr. Konietzko.
Later we made him cards. That's why, he came to our room, to thank us for the cards we made for him.
He said that the cards gave him strength. He read our cards over and over. Mr. Konietzko survived twice.
Once in the war and once in the car accident.

He said to himself I'm going to make it and he did. We were very happy when Mr. Konietzko came to visit us.
Your friend,
Terri Belville
To the Editor:
After lunch break we all sat down to finish our work.
Then Mr. Nastoff got a call on the speaker to go down to the office. When he came back a man was with him.
He came because he wanted to thank us for the cards we made for him.
Lisa McPherson

He told us how he survived in the hospital he was in. We tried to guess who he was. Mr. Nastoff gave us a hint. Stacey Synowiec guessed who he was.
He was the photographer that was in the accident. We prayed for him and made cards. In the hospital he read the cards over and over again.
He said he was proud of all of us. The cards and the prayer made him believe and trust that the Lord, with all his faith will make him all better.
Yours truly,
Renee Hassini

To the Editor:
Today when we were working the photographer that was going to take our pictures during the Thanksgiving play in November.
We were really surprised to see him. He told us he liked the cards we made for him and that the cards gave strength to get well.
Then he told us about the accident he got in and got badly hurt in the accident.
After that he told us he was in the war and got his thumb shot off when he was flying a airplane in the war.

In Medicare Part B

It's financial protection for services

(Reprinted as a public service by Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan, with permission of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Indiana.)

Fourth in a Series

Your Medicare Part B (Medical) Insurance is a partnership between you and the federal government to afford you financial protection for physician services in case of illness or injury.

Nearly all Medicare recipients elect to have their present $7.70 coinsurance premium deducted from their monthly Social Security checks. However, you can opt not to have Part B coverage but you will have to pay a higher coinsurance premium, if you decide you want it at a later date.

(Medicare Part B insurance premium will increase by 50 cents per month starting July 1, 1978.)

Your share of the Part B Medicare protection includes the premium deducted from your Social Security check, a $60-a-year deductible and 20 percent of all reasonable Medical charges for a given year.

In other words, your monthly premium pays for 80 percent of your allowable medical charges in any one year, and you pay the rest. As the fiscal agent for the federal government, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan is charged with the responsibility of receiving, reviewing, paying or rejecting all Medicare medical insurance claims, according to federal regulations.

Medicare Part B protection pays for 80 percent of allowable charges for all covered services whether the patient is treated in the physician's office, a hospital, a skilled nursing facility, at home or in a group practice, health maintenance organization or clinic.

Medicare Part B payments are made only to physicians who have accepted Medicare assignment. In this case, "assignment" means payments are made only to physicians who will accept the amount the government will pay for the service rendered; will not charge more than the "reasonable" amounts allowed for his services under Medicare fee schedules, and will not charge the Medicare patient more than the deductible and coinsurance for covered services.

Many doctors in Michigan accept Medicare "assignment" and are responsible for submitting claims forms for patients. If your doctor does not accept assignment, he still may agree to submit the claims form for you. It is advisable to always ask your doctor if he will accept assignment, and if not, whether he will file the claim for you. If you must file your own claim, it pays to keep good records of your medical care.

Among those services covered by Medicare Part B are medical and surgical services by a physician or an osteopath. Some dental, chiropractic and podiatric (foot) services also are covered under special circumstances.

Other services which ordinarily are furnished in a doctor's office and included in his bill also are covered. These include diagnostic tests and procedures, medical supplies, services of the office nurse, and drugs and other medicine which cannot be self-administered. But they must be medically necessary.

The specialized services of radiologists or pathologists also are covered to 100 percent of what Medicare feels are reasonable charges, if you require radiological or pathological services while you are an inpatient in the hospital. However, these charges do not count toward your $60 annual deductible.

Although Medicare B coverage is rather extensive, it is important to point out that there are some items that are not covered. They include routine physical examinations, routine eye and dental care, eye glasses, hearing aid fittings or changes and, finally, immunizations which are not related to injury or an immediate risk of infection.

Your Medicare Part B insurance will pay for ambulance transportation only if these requirements are met:

- (1) The ambulance company or service meets Medicare personnel and equipment requirements;
- (2) The trip is medically necessary (meaning transportation by any other means would endanger your life) and
- (3) You are transported to the hospital serving your locality or to the nearest hospital equipped to take care of any special medical needs.

But ambulance payments are made only when the special Medicare requirements are met. (Next — Outpatient Coverage)

Letter read from B. Ward Smith concerning St. Anthony's School building fees. In the opinion of the attorney, the Belleville Building Code does not apply to the construction of a public or non-public school building or additions thereto. Therefore, in connection with the additions to St. Anthony's School, the City should not issue any building permits and no charges should be made as there will be no City inspections.

Arm yourself with info before moving

By LINDA JOY
Executive Director
Michigan Consumers Council

Americans are on the move. According to the U.S. Census Bureau, nearly 35 million Americans will change addresses this year — the majority of them between June and September. Consumers who plan to move this summer should arm themselves with information to help make changing locations easier.

Since money usually is an important consideration in moving, consumers should understand the rate structure of commercial movers before deciding to use their services. While rates for moves between states are approved by the federal Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC), in-state movers' rates are regulated by the Michigan Public Service Commission.

Consequently, consumers should consider service when shopping for a moving company. The ICC publishes a list of each company's performance record which is available from moving companies. When looking at the company's overall performance, remember it's an average. The company's agent in your area may be better or worse than the average. Ask friends or neighbors who have recently moved for their opinions and experiences with different movers.

The first personal contact with a mover probably will occur when a representative of the firm comes to estimate the cost of the move. Don't deal with a company which claims to be able to estimate the cost over the phone. Show the representative everything which needs to be moved including articles in the attic or the garage. A price estimate will be given, but remember this is only an estimate. The total price can't be figured until the goods are weighed.

Like most other transactions, talk to at least three different movers. While their rates may not be very different, their services could differ greatly.

At the time of the estimate, interstate movers must provide the consumer with three documents — A Summary of Information for Shippers of Household Goods, the ICC's Public Advisory No. 4, entitled "Lost or Damaged Goods — Prevention and Recovery" and a copy of the firm's latest performance record. Movers in Michigan are required to give the consumer a copy of "Shippers General Information Guide."

The publications should be read and understood thoroughly to avoid future hassles or misunderstandings.

After a mover has been chosen, a service order will be prepared. This document includes the names, addresses and telephone numbers of everyone involved, the agreed pickup and delivery dates and the location of the scales where the shipment will be weighed. It also tells how much the customer must pay before the goods are unloaded at the destination point. Keep in mind most movers will take only cash, certified checks or money orders.

An inventory of your goods and their condition will be made by the mover before the van is loaded. Make sure you and the mover agree before signing the inventory sheet. The same careful procedure should be followed when the goods are unloaded.

Never ship an item which couldn't be replaced. Take important papers, documents and jewelry with you during the move. Arrange to have antiques appraised before they're loaded on the van and note the appraisal on the inventory sheet. If possible, go with the movers to weigh your property to protect against overcharging.

Regardless of how far you're moving, there are several ways to cut down the cost. Reduce the weight of the shipment by getting rid of items no longer needed. Hold a garage or rummage sale or throw away things which you will never need again. If you choose to donate many items to a charity, be sure to get a receipt for tax purposes.

Consider shipping bulky, unbreakable items by slower, less expensive means. For example, books can be shipped at a special fourth class book rate. Check with the post office, bus companies and other shipping firms for rates which could save money.

Consumers who decide to do it themselves may be in for hard work but estimates on savings run as high as 50 percent. Agencies which rent trucks and vans also may rent all equipment necessary for moving like dollies, pads and boxes. Many will also give packing tips.

For help with interstate moves, contact the ICC at its toll-free number, 1-800-424-9312. For assistance with moves within the state, write the Public Service Commission, Long Commerce Park, Box 30221, Lansing 48909, or call (517) 373-3244.

Park trails beckon

Spring is a beautiful time to take a self-guided hike along the Paw Paw or Bob White nature trails located in Lower Huron Metropark near Belleville.

Paw Paw nature trail has the making of a southern forest featuring the largest paw paw grove this far north, plus Kentucky coffee, hackberry, juneberry, dogwood and the blossoms of the flowering redbud trees.

Bob White trail is the most beautiful trail this side of the Mississippi for spring wildflowers. Trilliums, dogtooth violets, hepatics and spring beauties grow in profusion, a sight to behold — sys George Giblin, park superintendent.

For additional information contact Lower Huron Metropark at 697-9181 (Belleville).

College Week has class on energy savings at home

The winter of '78 brought home the fact that indeed a new dawn is coming for energy conservation in the United States. Consumers are becoming increasingly aware that they must conserve energy.

This year at College Week, June 19-22 on the Michigan State University campus, one class will deal specifically with energy conservation. The three phase class will include planning a kitchen; low energy use in today's homes and planning new homes designed for low energy consumption; and family and housing characteristics that are related to consumption of energy and how it is used within the home.

According to Doris Richardson, MSU Extension home economist and College Week instructor, her class on kitchen planning is designed for the homemaker looking for something as simple as re-arranging a cupboard or as technical as a complete kitchen remodeling job for a better working area.

College Week is sponsored by the Family Living Education Program of the MSU Cooperative Extension Service. During the four days on campus, "students" stay in a campus living-learning unit and attend classes, workshops, film festivals, and exhibits. Evening options include get-acquainted activities, an outdoor barbecue, meeting with Michigan legislators and more.

Further information about College Week activities may be obtained by calling the Family Living Education Department of the Wayne County Cooperative Extension office at 721-6565.

New home costs jump 55 percent

The U.S. Department of Commerce reports the average cost of new one-family homes in the U.S. rose 55.4 percent from 1971 to 1976. Dollarwise, building a new one-family home in 1976 cost an average of $48,000 and by July 1977, the average price had climbed to $54,700.

The National Home Builders estimate that rising costs of materials, labor and land will push the average price of a new one-family home to about $63,000 by 1978.

Item	Index 1971 Average	Index April, 1977	Per Cent Increase
Plywood	114.7	202.5	76.5
Prepared Paint	115.6	180.6	56.2
Plumbing Fixtures	116.4	182.7	57.0
Heating Equipment	115.5	163.5	41.6
Concrete Ingredients	121.9	197.3	61.9
Clay Products	114.2	172.7	51.2
Window Glass	124.8	218.7	75.2
Floor Coverings	102.9	135.5	31.7

During the same period the cost of living measured by the Department of Labor's Consumer Price Index increased 50.7 percent.

Sounds stay at Back Door

Sounds Inc., with saxman-leader Maurice Jiles, continues at Don Manasian's Back Door Lounge, 25231 Michigan Avenue, one mile west of Telegraph Road in Dearborn.

The group will be performing nightly through Saturday.

Sounds Inc. was held over at the Back Door because of the tremendous audience response to the group during its appearance with Lvis Shelton. Manasian added that there is a possibility the group will be back to appear with the Jose Perez Show.

The grand finale

For effortless entertaining, try these new recipes for Hunt Trifle and Glazed Apple Upside Down Cake. They'll please friends and family alike and make you feel good as well.

For your recipe file

Two elegant desserts

Riding to hounds, an ancient tradition throughout Europe, was also favored by George Washington and other leaders in colonial American times. Always enjoyed in the eastern states, fox hunting has increased in popularity in the Mid-West and West as well. Today, there are more recognized hunts in the United States than in England!

Hunts today (because of encroaching population upon hunt lands) are predominantly "drag" or foxless affairs in which the "line" or "scent" is laid down earlier in the morning according to specifications of the M.F. H. (Master of Foxhounds) and his staff.

The Hunt Breakfast is the reward for riders, families and guests after the hunt's end, which could come at any time of the day depending on when the fox "went to ground", i.e. ran into his hole or got away.

Our adaptation of a Hunt Breakfast is designed to be a leisurely affair. Arrange all the food on the table, then let guests help themselves.

Glazed baked ham is traditional fare for the Hunt Breakfast. Crisp sausages and thin pancakes topped with the new Domino R Liquid Brown Sugar is a welcome addition to the menu. This new product is all natural, brown sugar in liquid form with no additives, preservatives or artificial flavor. The flavor is pure and delicate without being overly sweet and perfect for topping pancakes, waffles, ice cream and cereal.

We like it, too, as an ingredient in cooking and baking. It's convenient, easy to use and there is no waste.

The recipes shown here for Hunt Trifle and Glazed Apple Upside Down Cake were especially developed for you by Domino home economists. We believe you will want to add them to your file of favorite recipes!

Glazed Apple Upside Down Cake

(Makes 1 pan - 9 x 13)

4 large cooking apples
1/2 cup Domino R Liquid Brown Sugar
1/4 cup melted butter or margarine
1/4 teaspoon each cinnamon and nutmeg
2 packages (1 pound, 1 ounce each) pound cake mix
Grated rind of 1 orange

4 eggs
1 1/2 cups milk
1/2 cup chopped pecans

Peel, halve and core apples. Cut apples into thin slices. In a bowl, mix Liquid Brown Sugar, butter and spices. Pour into a 9 x 13 x 2 inch baking pan and spread evenly in pan. Arrange apple slices in syrup in a pretty pattern. In a bowl, mix pound cake, orange rind, eggs and 1/2 cup of the milk. Beat until smooth and fluffy. Beat in remaining milk. Fold in pecans. Pour batter evenly over apple slices. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (325 degrees F.) for 1 hour to 1 hour and 15 minutes or until puffed and brown and firm to the touch in the center. Unmold while hot into a large serving platter. Scrape out any glaze remaining in pan and pour over apples. Sprinkle top with additional chopped pecans, if desired, and cut into squares. Serve warm. Can also be topped with scoops of vanilla ice cream.

Hunt Trifle

(Serves 8)

1 package (12 ounces) frozen pound cake, thawed
Two-thirds cup cream sherry
1 jar (12 ounces) raspberry preserves
One-third cup cornstarch
1 cup Domino R Liquid Brown Sugar
3 cups milk
2 teaspoons vanilla
1 cup (1/2 pint) heavy cream, whipped
2 tablespoons toasted sliced almonds

Cut pound cake into 1/2 inch cubes. Sprinkle half of the cubes into a 2 quart serving bowl. Sprinkle cake with half of the sherry and spread cake with half of the raspberry preserves. In a saucepan, mix cornstarch and Liquid Brown Sugar. Stir in milk. Stir over low heat until pudding bubbles and thickens. Remove from heat and stir in vanilla. Pour half of the pudding over cake. Repeat layering using remaining cake, sherry, preserves and pudding. Chill. Spread whipped cream over top of trifle just before serving time and sprinkle with almonds. Serve spooned into small bowls.

Pulitzer Prize winner, J. Ross Baughman, 25, has 'Belleville connection'

Among those receiving the coveted Pulitzer Prize this year was J. Ross Baughman, the 25-year-old son of Belleville resident, Patricia Baughman.

Baughman, who was awarded the prize for feature photography, submitted pictures of the plight of black prisoners in Rhodesia depicting only three of the atrocities committed by Grey's Scouts, a Rhodesian Army unit. When Rhodesian authorities learned that Baughman was an Associated Press photographer, not as a potential army recruit, had witnessed the torturing, he was ordered to return to Salisbury where most of his film was confiscated and spoiled.

Between assignments, Baughman came home for Christmas in 1977 and enjoyed the chance to be with part of his family. His sister Mary Ann Bittner, who lives on Harmony Lane in Van Buren Township with her husband Al and daughter Brinka says, "The first thing he wanted to do was take us to see 'Close Encounters of the Third Kind.'"

When asked if she worries about her son's own courageous close encounters, especially now that he is traveling between Lebanon and Egypt for Associated Press, Pat Baughman philosophizes, "He has always been very good at the things he really wants to do so I don't worry about his absence and I don't worry about death. He is taking pictures of what he wants to show the world and that accomplishment outweighs worry."

Named for the late American newspaperman, Joseph Pulitzer, this noted prize for the arts and journalism is announced annually (April 17 this year) in several categories by the trustees of New York's Columbia University and a 15-member advisory board.

Baughman's work earned two category nominations this year. In addition to the three winning photographs taken by Baughman last September, Professor Richard T. Baker, secretary of the Pulitzer Advisory Board, had also invited The Lorain Journal (the Ohio newspaper employing Baughman from 1974-1977) to enter Baughman's series on 'The Nazis in America' in the Pulitzer competitions. The 8-month in-depth look into the American Nazi Party took the top award for investigative reporting in this year's Ohio Associated Press competition.

Experiment with them

Spices are your best helpmates

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

If you like to cook (as I do) and you come to the vegetable course (as we all do) you, no doubt, have the same problems all home chefs have — how to fix those carrots, beans and beets and that cabbage, squash and broccoli in a new, interesting and exciting way.

It never fails when I pull out a head of cabbage that I delve into my many cookbooks for that something "different" and usually end up with an old favorite anyway simply because I didn't take enough time for its preparation.

That being the case, one SHOULD be aware of what spices or herbs can be added to an otherwise ordinary vegetable to make it novel and still appealing.

So — I did a little investigating on that vein and came up with which spices can be added to not only those vegetable dishes but to meats, fish, poultry, breads, desserts, pastries and liquors as well.

This is the kind of list you'll want to clip and tuck in your favorite cookbook since it will come in handy time and again.

-- ALL SPICE, the fruit of the evergreen tree of the myrtle family. Use in pot roasts and meatballs on beets, sweet potatoes and yams, all kinds of squash, fruits, spice cakes, cookies, puddings and pies. I like to add a pinch to meatloaf as well.

-- ANISE, dried seed of the parsley family with a strong licorice flavor. Use on fresh and baked fruits, in cookies, cakes, breads, soups, salads, fish dishes and liquors.

-- CARAWAY SEED, seed of the parsley family. Use in breads, sauerkraut, white and green vegetables, noodles, pork roasts, and seasoned butter. It's delicious in cole slaw, too.

-- CARDAMON, fruit of the ginger family. This is the main spice in Danish pastries. Use in other baked goods, fruit salads, custards, hot wines, curries, and pickles.

-- CELERY SEED, dried fruit of celery plant. Use in tomato juice, soups, fish, salad dressings, ground meats and stews. Add it to your cole slaw sometime — m-m-m.

-- CINNAMON, inner bark of evergreen trees of the laurel family. Use whole sticks in pickles, preserves and beverages. Change to the ground variety for pies, cakes, breads, ham, pork roasts and stews.

-- CLOVES, dried, unopened buds of evergreen trees of the myrtle family. Use whole cloves for garnishes, roasts, stews, hot or cold punches and wines. Use ground in baked desserts, fruits, vegetables, barbeque, spaghetti and chili sauces. Use sparingly.

-- CORIANDER, dried seed of a plant in the parsley family. Use in candies, baked breads, desserts, roasts, chops, sausage, frankfurters, pea and bean soups, stewed fruits, curry and pickling spice formulas.

-- CUMIN, dried seed of plant in the parsley family. Use in sauerkraut, dried beans, wild game. Use sparingly.

-- DILL, dried seed and leaves of the parsley family. Dill is the seed necessary for dill pickles. Use in cottage cheese, salads, salad dressings and fish. Dill seed is slightly bitter; dill weed has a delicate bouquet. Sprinkle dill weed in potato, soup and atop tossed salads. Delicious!

-- FENNEL, fruit of perennial plant in the parsley family. Good on eggs, pickles, fish, pork and poultry and in Italian sausage and liquors.

-- GINGER, dried root of the ginger family. Tasty in cakes, cookies, ginger bread, custards, in Oriental cookery, on vegetables, meats, pickles and preserves. Again use sparingly.

-- MACE, dried outer seed covering fruit of the nutmeg tree. Good in devilsfood, pound and spice cakes, in soups, sauces and punches.

-- MUSTARD, seeds from white or yellow and brown or black mustard plant. Try in egg and cheese dishes, sauces, meats, vegetables. Also add it to my sweet-sour dressing for wilted lettuce.

Nutmeg, paprika and the rest of the spice-herb list next week. Keep watch.

At May 17 luncheon

Romulus Literary Club to mark 50th anniversary

The 50th anniversary of its founding will be marked by the Romulus Literary Club when the group meets for a special luncheon on May 17. All former members have been invited to the 12 noon festivities at Ramada Inn, 8270 Wickham Road, near Metro Airport.

Mrs. Carl Morris, who is chairing the golden year celebration, is being assisted by Mrs. Landon Clark, Mrs. William Oakley, Mrs. Delton Block and Mrs. Garnett Bunnell.

Committee chair people include Mary Oakley, Helen Tobacco and Joanne Block, program; Beulah Morris and Shirley Burcroft, membership; Beverly Reel, publicity; Jean Savage, flowers; Muriel Boelter, historian, and Fern Barlow, Girlstown.

The current slate of officers, who will greet incoming guests expected from as far away as California, are Joanne Block, president; Mary Oakley, vice-president; Judy White, secretary, and Stella Bunnell, treasurer.

The Literary Club, which had its beginnings on May 16, 1928, supports many local projects including Girlstown of Belleville.

May begins on busy note for 4-H Club

The High Flyers 4-H Club finds itself very busy at this time of the year having just recently participated in the Ethnic Festival where they performed Polish dances and took part in the fashion show.

The next four days, May 11-14 will find them at the Old Time Country Fair at Greenfield Village. Then on May 12 and 13 the club will have a display at Village Plaza on Michigan Avenue in Dearborn where they will feature crafts and baked goods.

Savage PTO raffle results

The PTO of Savage Elementary School can look back on its first school carnival as a complete success, having realized over $900 in profits which will be used for the needs of the school children.

Still others who will look on the carnival as a winner are those who garnered the three raffle prizes. Kitty Smendra now has a $100 grocery certificate to spend; Freddie Nitz has the oversized stuffed frog to add to his home and Greg Benton has a new TV video game.

Teacher retirees honored

Alpha Delta Kappa, (ADK), International honorary sorority for women educators, held its second annual retirement tea for all retired teachers who taught in the Van Buren Public Schools. Activities took place May 2 in the board room of the Administration Building. Carrietta Post, a first grade teacher at Tyler Elementary School, coordinated the tea which included a buffet of d'oeuvres served amid an arrangement of mixed garden blooms and candles. School and central office administrators as well as school board members were on hand for the occasion. Among those attending were Ella Woolery (top picture, from left), Eloise Congdon, Doris Roe, retired teacher and honorary member of ADK, and Marge Emerson. In the lower picture are Hazel Schaal (from left), De Ette Boelter, Marge Gray and Muriel Smith.

BPW conducts installation

Phyllis Harrison of Royal Oak, 3rd vice-president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., was the guest of the Belleville BPW on May 1. She came to install the newly elected club officers: Irene Christie, president; Mildred Artley, president-elect; Bonnie Pavlat, vice-president; Faye Sotomayor, recording secretary; Gwen Ashe, treasurer, and Irene Whalen, corresponding secretary. Two new members, Evelyn Lauber, an employee of the Lockrow Real Estate Agency, and Joyce Phillips, a nursing supervisor at Annapolis Hospital, were officially initiated by membership chairman, Gwen Ashe, and presented with their membership certificate and a pink rose, the club flower. President, Ruth Davis, participated by charging all club members with their responsibility and duties of helping these new members to carry on the objectives of BPW.

The Van Buren Community Chorus presented vocal entertainment for the evening. Mrs. Kathy Rairick directed the group, assisted by accompanists Jim Wagner and Gwen Ashe. Their program included "He Comes To Us", "Bridge Over Troubled Water" with soloist Arlene Smith; "Michigan Morn", Ruthann Wagner soloist, and "South Pacific", a medley.

Several guests attended the meeting including a representative from the newly chartered Romulus BPW Club, two daughters of Mrs. Christie, the new president, and two sisters of Miss Pavlat, the incoming vice-president.

Microwave cookery class set

"Microwave Cookery" is scheduled at the YWCA of Western Wayne County on Wednesday, May 10, from 1 to 3 p.m. or 7 to 9 p.m. for four weeks. Microwave cookery has become a way of life but few women have learned how to make the most effective use of microwave ovens.

Vincent McCallum Associates will use several types of ovens and cookery will range from simple to gourmet. There will be lots of opportunity for tasting. The microwave classes are $26. YWCA membership is $6 per year. To enroll, call the YWCA at 561-4110.

Bird count to be held

A May bird count will be held at the nature center of Kensington Metropark near Milford on Saturday at 8 a.m. and 12:30 p.m.

The object of the count is to census the birds within the confines of the park. All interested birders are invited to participate. Participants will be divided up into groups and assigned to different areas of the park. Birders may spend as much or as little time as they choose.

Meet at the nature center building. Participants must bring binoculars, as well as lunch. Dress for the weather.

Advance registration is required. For information or registration contact the Nature Center of Kensington Metropark at 685-1561 (Milford).

Mericles attend K-F Seaway Regional meet

By Mrs. Joseph Spring 699-4021

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mericle of Denton Road were among the many members of the Kaiser-Frazer Owners Club, Int'l. from Michigan, Ohio, Canada and other neighboring states who attended the "Seaway Sociables" 25th Bi-Annual Seaway Regional meet. It was held at Perrysburg, Ohio, on Sunday, April 30.

The meeting focused on Seaway Kaiser-Frazer parts which are scarce and in great demand.

A buffet luncheon was enjoyed after which a business meeting was held with awards and door prizes being presented.

Special registration for youngsters was held with prizes and a "Fish Bowl" drawing.

Recent guests at the Karr Road home of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Lupper were a niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kuerth from Beulah.

Lynn Saunders of Fraser was a Sunday dinner guest at the home of his mother, Mrs. Clayton Saunders of Liberty Street.

Mrs. Dorothy Kellas returned to her home on Margery Street last week Thursday after having spent 10 days visiting cousins, Dr. and Mrs. Jacob Spungin at Auburn, and Mrs. Esta-Helen Martin at Boston, Mass.

Miss Melodie Bruster, a student at Atlantic Christian College in Winston - Salem, N.C. was a recent weekend guest of relatives, the Robert Welt family of Willis Road.

On Wednesday, May 3, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Boldt of Roland Street attended funeral services for an aunt, Mrs. Joseph Kronbach, at the Bennett Funeral Home in Erie.

Mrs. Kronbach passed away Monday, May 1, after a long illness. Burial took place in the family lot at Malinta, Ohio.

Enroute home the Boldts stopped in Bowling Green, Ohio to call on an aunt, Mrs. Dorothy DeWese, who is recovering from a fractured hip.

Recent dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deering of West Columbia Avenue were relatives Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Masak of South Lyon, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lawson of Farmington and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Krajewski of West Bloomfield. Callers at their home the same week were relatives from Argyle, N.Y., Mr. and Mrs. Carl Evans and their two children.

Recent guests at the Sumpter Road home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Quinley were the latter's sister, Mrs. Eilene Lindemann from Highland Beach, and their aunt, Mrs. Louise Hurley from Hamilton, Ohio.

After having been a surgical patient at St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor for the past two weeks, Mrs. Mae Fielder was able to return to her home on South Street on Thursday, May 4.

Their two small grandsons, Michael, four, and Adam three, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn McKelvey of Flushing, have been spending the week with the Charles McKelveys of Bemis Road.

Mrs. Sherman Mann of Wayne was a guest last Tuesday of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clayton of Bedell Street.

On Monday, April 24, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Shirley of Wexford Street and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hatch of Church Street enjoyed dinner together at Carrie Lee Chinese Restaurant in Birmingham. The occasion was in celebration of both couple's wedding anniversaries.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Aerman of Jonesville were last Monday evening dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deering of West Columbia Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stevens of East Huron River Drive and daughter, Suzanne of Liberty Street, recently enjoyed a weekend at Cumberland Falls State Park. They also visited Cumberland Gap and Berea.

Windiates observe 60th anniversary

Residents of Romulus for the past 54 years, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Windiate of 6398 Central, observed their 60th wedding anniversary at a reception given April 23 by their five children.

The First Congregational Church of Wayne was the setting for the party which featured yellow and white bells and candles, a centerpiece of spring flowers and a large round cake with the inscription, "Happy 60th anniversary Mom and Dad."

Guests arriving for dinner were from Farmington, Indian River, Taylor, Wayne and Romulus. The women of the church prepared and served the meal.

Elmer Windiate took Beatrice Perry of Mt. Pleasant, Mich. as his bride on April 21, 1918. The six children born to their union include Earl of Romulus; Mrs. Arthella Gorte of Taylor; Mrs. Virginia Gabbert of Inkster; Mrs. James (Shirley) Cox of Romulus, Mrs. Collin (Audry) McPhee of Dearborn Heights and Richard who is deceased.

There are also 21 grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren on their family tree.

Mr. Windiate, who is semi-retired since 1960, still likes to putter around his former business, Windiate Hardware on Middlebelt Road. Before going into business for himself he worked as an electrician for the Detroit Edison Company and then opened his own electrical business in conjunction with the hardware. His wife enjoys crocheting in her leisure time.

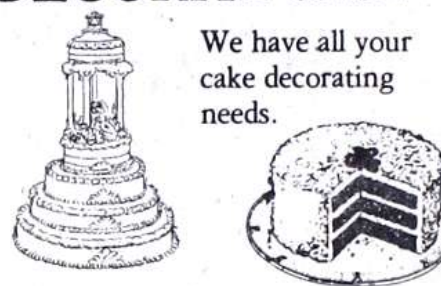

For the happy occasion, Mrs. Windiate was presented with a corsage of yellow and white flowers which she wore on her wrist. A white carnation boutonniere distinguished the man-of-the-hour.

Party observes 90th year

Mrs. Stanley (Rhea) Sobolewsky of West Columbia Avenue, Belleville, was guest of honor April 22 at a potluck dinner held at the Seventh Day Adventist Church in honor of her 90th birthday.

Present for the occasion were her immediate family, Mr. and Mrs. Alton P. Shirley of Canton Center Road; Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Shirley of Wexford Street and Mrs. Fred Guilstorf of West Columbia Avenue, (Fred being hospitalized at the time of the get-together.)

Besides the many cards, flowers and other gifts, the honoree was also presented with a special birthday cake which she cut and shared with those present.

In the evening she was treated to dinner at Cantonese Village in Westland.

Mrs. Sobolewsky, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Plague, was born April 22, 1888, at her parents' home on Liberty Street. She is the oldest resident of Belleville having lived in the city all of her 90 years. Besides her three children, she has five grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Bobbi Jo is a 'first'

The birth of their first child, a daughter, is being announced by Mr. and Mrs. William A. Stevens Jr. of 4848 W. Huron River Dr., Belleville. The new addition, who will answer to the name "Bobbi Jo", made her debut at Wayne County General Hospital in the wee hours of April 5, 5:05 a.m. to be exact.

The 6lb. - 5 oz. infant, who measured 19½ inches in length, is the granddaughter of John and Sharon Tinsley of Wixom, Carl and Lois Pinson and William and Loretha Stevens, all of Belleville.

There are also two very proud Belleville ladies who have a claim on little Bobbi Jo — her great - grandmother, Mrs. Thelma Bitnar, and her great-great grandmother, Mrs. Anna Bitnar.

The new mother is the former Micki Jo Tinsley.

Cranbrook Festival '78 features Boston musicians

Violinist and conductor Joseph Silverstein, music director and first violinist of the Boston Symphony Chamber Players; soprano Phyllis Curtin, a legendary heroine of operatic triumphs in such houses as Vienna State, Teatro Colon and the Metropolitan Opera, and Gilbert Kalish, one of the finest interpreters of Haydn today, carry on the tradition of great baroque and classical music at Cranbrook Festival '78 tomorrow through Saturday.

Presented in the beautiful, high vaulted Christ Church Cranbrook, the distinguished festival opens tomorrow evening, with Miss Curtin's offering of arias by Telemann.

The Boston Symphony Chamber Players, whose performances here last year were hailed for their balance, sensitivity, conviction and spellbinding beauty, return also Thursday evening with works of Bach and Mozart.

The Chamber Players have made national and international tours in addition to their annual local appearances since creation of the group in 1964. They have given concerts in the Soviet Union, the U.S. Virgin Islands and South America, as well as throughout the United States.

Detroit's own Wayne State University Chamber Choir (under the direction of Dr. Harry M. Langsford), twice winner of first place in world competition in Wales, presents special programs of baroque classical music with instrumental accompaniment Thursday and Friday evenings.

The Baldwin-Wallace Brass Quintet, making its seventh appearance at the festival, will perform chorales at sunset from the west porch roof of the church as a prelude to each evening's performance —

Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Friday will be an evening of Haydn and Mozart with pianist Gilbert Kalish center stage. Boston Symphony Chamber Players sparkle this night with performances by Joseph Silverstein, violin; Jules Eskin, cello; Doriot Anthony Dwyer, flute; Sherman Walt, bassoon; Burton Fine, viola, and Ralph Gomberg, oboe.

The Wayne State University Choir will present Mozart's Justum deduxit Dominum, along with compositions by Gabrieli and Handel.

Saturday, Concerto Night, offers the two sides of native Detroit Joseph Silverstein — as conductor of the Cranbrook Festival Chamber Orchestra and as violin soloist interpreting Bach's Concerto for violin in A Minor.

Silverstein, who became a member of the Boston Symphony in 1955 at the age of 23, progressed from the last stand of the violins to the position of concertmaster in 1962 and assistant conductor in 1971.

He is chairman of the faculty of the Berkshire Music Center, associate professor of music at Yale, assistant professor of music at Boston University and a member of the Boston Symphony Chamber Players.

Violinist and conductor Silverstein will be joined by the Symphony Players in works of Bach, Vivaldi, Cimarosa and Haydn Saturday, a very special evening.

University of Kansas carillonneur Albert Gerken will perform selected classical and baroque carillon works prior to each evening's concert. He will conclude the festival Sunday afternoon at four with the traditional free lawn concert.

Cranbrook Festival '78 is sponsored by the Cranbrook Music Guild, Inc. Tickets are available by calling 313-646-3595.

Country fair to re-create rural events

Brown bag concert set for Ypsilanti

A series of six brown bag concerts, a chili-making competition and an Ypsilanti Ethnic Festival are only a few of the events planned for May and June by the Downtown Promotion Committee of the Greater Ypsilanti Area Chamber of Commerce. These events, along with a boat show, a recreational vehicle show, a senior citizen's day and two-day street dance are part of the DTPC's plan to provide some kind of activity in the downtown area nearly every weekend of the spring and summer from mid-May to mid-September.

The first event scheduled for the Washington Street Promenade will take place on May 17 at 12 noon. It will take the form of the first of six "brown bag" concerts at lunchtime. With exception of the Wednesday following the Memorial Day weekend, lunch-hour crowds will be entertained for six successive Wednesdays by professional musical groups from the area.

The instrumental music for these occasions is made possible by funds supplied by the Recording Companies of America through the Music Performance Trust Funds, a public service organization created under agreements with the American Federation of Musicians (AFM).

The grant for these performances was obtained with the cooperation of Local No. 625 AFM. Under this arrangement, 50 percent of the cost is assumed by the Musician's Trust and 50 percent by the committee and local business. The local arrangements were co-ordinated by Reade Pierce, an Ann Arbor realtor and secretary-treasurer of the AFM Ann Arbor local. Pierce has arranged for six different styles of music, ranging from rock to dixieland.

The concerts will last for approximately one hour during the lunch hour and begin at 12 noon. Subsequent concerts will take place on May 24 and on June 7, 14, 21 and 28.

Promenade Utilization Committee Chairperson Louise Smith indicated the committee may schedule concerts throughout the summer next season, if these six are well received.

Weekend activities will begin in earnest downtown on May 20th with the second annual new and used boat show. This event will feature new boats of all sizes from area marine dealers, as well as boats for sale by private owners. The event will begin at 9 a.m. and last until 6 p.m. on the Washington Street Promenade.

Other activities scheduled for May and June are:

- May 27, Ypsilanti Area Ethnic Festival;
- June 3, Recreational Vehicle Show;
- June 10, Senior Citizen's Day;
- June 17, the Great Chili Fest; and
- June 23-24, Youth-Adult Street Dance.

Any Ypsilanti organization desiring to utilize the promenade for events of a public nature is asked to contact the Ypsilanti Chamber of Commerce for available dates and additional information.

Farm displays and demonstrations — including sheep shearing, butter churning, livestock exhibits, folk music and Early American crafts — will re-create the rural fairs of a century or more ago during "Country Fair of Yesteryear" this weekend at Greenfield Village.

Farm animals, some of them prize-winning livestock, will be exhibited on the activities field and paraded daily. Along with old-fashioned music and entertainment, practitioners of more than a dozen crafts will demonstrate their skills, recalling the days when necessities and even some luxuries were made by hand or with the help of relatively simple machines.

There will be pewtering, tinsmithing, silk processing, pottery making wool carding and spinning, bee keeping, leather working, glass blowing, tin-type photography and other crafts and skills — some brought in especially for this event.

Entertainment from the past also will be featured. Players of dulcimers and banjos, folk singers, a variety show, a magician and comic will perform at various village locations. School bands also will give concerts at various times during the four days.

New attractions such as violin making and Old English morris dancing will add to the traditional fare. Three violin makers will practice the seldom-seen skills of this exacting craft. The Ann Arbor Morris and Sword Dance team, adorned with bells, ribbons, and vests, will perform their unusual dance steps while playing mandolins, penny whistles, guitars and recorders.

The "Cavalcade of Transportation" parade, a fair tradition will consist of farm animals, horse-drawn wagons and motorized vehicles. The sputtering gasoline engines of the Early Engine Club will make their own kind of music on the activities field.

There is no charge for "Country Fair of Yesteryear" beyond the regular village admission of $3.50 for adults and $1.50 for children ages 6 through 12. Children under 6 are admitted free.

IT'S A FACT

Agriculture and Industry are benefiting from Air Force research and development projects: One program with widespread use is the linear accelerator, which gives kinetic energy to charged particles such as electrons or protons. It is used to mix plastics, thereby improving products. The food industry employs the accelerator for large scale food sterilization and preservation. Metal casting producers use it to detect defects in their products.

Students in the Romulus Senior High School Co-op Program hosted participating employers at their annual spring banquet April 18 at Airport Hilton Inn. The social evening featured a brief program with a Student Skit and took a look at the need for "Employability Skills", as discussed by guest speaker Richard Nesbitt of the Eastern Michigan University Placement Office. In the top photo Diane Baker, (left), personnel director of Wayne Convalescent Home, and Juanita Higgins, co-op employee, share table conversation; and Richard

Thirty students at Huron High School in New Boston have been named to the principal's honors list for the recent academic marking period. Twelfth graders recognized for the scholarly excellence were Diane Balowski, Mark Beattie, Caren Christman, Theresa Collins, Laurie Elliott,

Mark Gore, Brett Hardt and Larry LaValley, Mark Niemann, Tammy Sinel, Brenda Smith, Robert Taepke and Laurie Wallace. The 11th graders named to the honor roll were Karen Clapp, Julie Hinds, Robert Renton, Scott Strohline, Dennis Tackett and Loretta Wallace. The top 10th graders included Stencil Barton, Sally Gajda, Karen Holland, Susan Jokimaki, John Masson and Linda Newton, while the ninth graders named to the honor roll were Larrie Hall, Laura Hunt, Brenda Krzyske, Mark Martin and Sarah Renton.

Cheesy Chatter

Cheesy Ponytail Franks are easy to make and a delight to eat. Mix two cups of shredded Cheddar cheese with one fourth cup, each, of chili sauce and pickle relish and one-eighth teaspoon of oregano. Slit eight frankfurters lengthwise, but not all the way through. Fill with cheese mixture, place in hotdog buns and wrap each one in foil. Seal and twist the ends to resemble ponytails. Make ahead and refrigerate, if desired. Heat in a hot (400 degrees F.) oven for 15 to 20 minutes.

Are you buying cheese already shredded? If the package reads eight ounces, that means two cups of shredded cheese. Rice or vegetables will both be better if you add some Parmesan cheese for seasoning. When cooking pasta, add just a bit of butter to the boiling, salted water. It helps to keep the pasta separated.

The grades are in the averages tallied to come up with the honor roll for the fifth marking period at Belleville's North Junior High School. And 41 students have been awarded straight As for their efforts.

Top seventh graders during that marking period were Bradley Ballard, Kenneth Eccles, Jeffrey Eichold, Darin Huffman, Timothy Johnson, Galen Kenyon, Thomas Ley, Kimberly Manus, David Mitchell, Ann Oliver, Edward Olson, Lori Reuben, Christopher Sanchez, Richard Schroeder, Tonya Smith, Roger Templeton, Robert Williams, Michael Wilson and Kathleen Zager.

Eighth graders garnering perfect marks were Ann Askew, Clifford Cicotte, Richelle Croteau, Larry Fleeman, Ronie Helton, Kevin Krug, Lorna Memering, Joann Mills, Deborah Music, Jenna Oliver, Lori Padgett, Pamela Prewitt, James Ryznar, Stacy Smith, Connie Southward, Tammy Utsler, Mary Walls, Michael White, Andra Whittico, Michael Winnie and Ty Wyman. The lone ninth grader was Scharmin Dorostkar.

Also named to the honor roll were:

What's for lunch?

Such entrees as ravioli with cheese in tomato sauce, chicken turnovers, hot roast beef sandwiches and goulash will be among the items served in the cafeterias of the Van Buren and Lincoln Consolidated schools next week.

In Van Buren's elementary schools the menu Monday will be hamburgers on buns, juice, french fries, chilly things and milk, followed by a lineup of barbequed beef on buns, vegetable, potato chips, fruit, cookies and milk on Tuesday.

Next Wednesday the bill of fare will be ravioli with cheese in tomato sauce, with side dishes of bread and butter, fruit, pie and milk.

Next Thursday the cafeterias will be serving soup, pizza, vegetable, cookies and milk, while a lineup of chicken turnovers with mashed potatoes and gravy, fruit Jello-O, pudding and milk will close out the week.

In the junior high schools the menu Monday will be hot roast beef sandwiches, mashed potatoes with gravy, salad, chilly things and milk, while beef-O-roni and Italian veal cutlet, vegetable, hot garlic bread, fruit Jell-O, pie and milk will be on tap for Tuesday.

Next Wednesday the menu will be three meatballs in gravy, mashed potatoes, bread and butter, brownies, fruit and milk, with a menu of barbequed beef on buns, tator tots, vegetable, and cake slated for next Thursday.

Rounding out the week will be a menu of soup, grilled cheese sandwiches, fruit cobbler and milk.

The alternate menu selections for the week will be Belleville burgers Monday, doubleburgers with cheese Tuesday, Coney Island foot-longs next Wednesday, pizza submarine sandwiches next Thursday and tacos next Friday.

Canoe rentals offered

Spring is one of the most beautiful seasons in which to enjoy a canoe trip along the Huron River in southeastern Michigan.

One of the most popular routes begins on the Huron River southwest of Pontiac, through Milford, Kent Lake in Kensington Metropark, the Hamburg area, Hudson Mills and Delhi Metroparks northwest of Ann Arbor, southeast to Ann Arbor and on to Belleville and Lake Erie.

There are several Huron-Clinton overnight campsites available by advance permit. Charges are $1 per canoe up to five; $5 maximum. Permits are available by contacting the park offices at Kensington Metropark (685-1561), Hudson Mills Metropark 426-8211 or Lower Huron Metropark 697-9181).

Canoe rental service is available at Delhi Metropark northwest of Ann Arbor weekends only in the spring and daily in the summer.

Two trips are available: Hudson Mills to Delhi Metropark for $10.50 or Dexter-Huron Metropark to Delhi Metropark for $6.50, plus deposit charge.

Mother's Day Wish

Dear Family,

Last year on Mother's Day you bought me flowers, and took me to a theatre. I had a wonderful time. But if I have a choice this year, I only wish that you would take me to where my friends will be going. A place that I've heard so much about and have wanted to go for so long. A place where someone waits on me as I have on you. Please make my wish come true—Take me to the Centurion Restaurant. Love,

Churchill upsets Franklin at WW

Chargers make it 2 in a row

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

A succession of surprises and outstanding individual performances by Livonia Churchill thincads helped the Chargers retain for the second time the prestigious Western Wayne Invitational Track & Field Relays championships staged at Belleville High School last Tuesday.

With their sterling victory, Coach Fred Price and the Chargers also avenged an earlier dual meet lost to cross-town rival, Franklin, which had entered the meet as the favorite. "This is just the kind of medicine this team needed," said an elated Price after the final tabulation gave his team 37½ points, 7½ more than second place Franklin. "It was a great happening for us and we needed to win." Price pointed out that his athletes had scored in almost all events, placed six or better in all but two events.

Troubled waters

The rains and inclement weather have not only troubled high school baseball coaches and caused havoc and chaos with the schedules, but an unexpected loss by Coach Jim Chronowski's Zebras have dampened Wayne's hopes to repeat as the Great Lakes 8 Conference champs. Wayne jolted the then second place Taylor Truman team twice behind the superlative pitching of senior Jim Canfield, but a loss to Riverview has left the Zebras and their coach with a 3-3 league record, two games behind frontrunning Monroe. However, it's not all over yet as Wayne will meet the league-leaders in the second round and could possibly climb to the top rung before it is all over. That is, if the weather breaks for the good long enough for the teams to play.

Wayne loses rookie cage coach

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Pardon the expression, but is Chuck Henry courting disaster? The soon-to-be 29-year-old ex-Wayne Memorial cage coach has resigned to accept a similar position at Dearborn Divine Child and, apparently, he's making the move - or plunge - without any one twisting his arm.

If Henry's decision would have been made a couple of years ago, it would be understandable. Divine Child had the best Class B basketball team in the state, while Wayne was rebuilding. This year the Falcons, however, slipped to a 5-15 record and the season was clouded with controversy.

In fact, there were rumors that Coach Jim Schultz, who had led D.C. to the state title the year before was about to leave his cagers in midstream.

Meanwhile, Henry replaced venerable Bill Hawley as Wayne's head coach and in his first and only season led the Zebras to a 10-4 league record and a second place finish in the Great Lakes 8 Conference.

He has many of those kids back, including Calvin Lee, Kyle Poteau and Mark Zerna, who, along with plentiful talent from the junior varsity which was a championship team, could possibly make the 1978-79 year a memorable one for Wayne cage fans.

"The most difficult thing for me to do is to leave the group of players who I had coming back," said Henry. "And, of course, this is a once in a lifetime opportunity and I just couldn't pass it up."

D.C. is a stepping stone

"The program at Divine Child allows itself for a person to put in a maximum amount of time and, obviously, anyone who has followed D.C.'s athletic programs knows that it has earned national attention.

"I hope to prove myself as a coach and a recruiter and use this opportunity as a stepping stone to advance my career."

A graduate of Riverview High, Henry was an All-Area cager and went on to Monroe Junior College before completing his college education at Eastern Michigan University. He has worked in the Wayne-Westland Community School District for the past seven years and will remain as a teacher within the school district.

Hawley, who serves as Wayne High's athletic director, said he was disappointed to receive Henry's resignation.

"We are definitely disappointed that Henry is leaving the head basketball coaching duties," Hawley said. "We felt that he had a great future in front of him as a coach. He has tremendous rapport with the young men he works with and replacing him will be difficult."

Will Hawley come out of retirement?

Hawley pointed out the coaching vacancy "will be filled with personnel within the school district."

"Because of enrollment decline," Hawley said, "it is very likely that we will fill the vacancy with people within our school system. I don't see hiring new teachers in the system at present."

There is one record that Henry unknowingly may have set -- he is probably the first head basketball coach in recent Wayne High history to leave the scene after only one year.

Wonder if Hawley is ready to come out of "retirement"? If Dick Vitale can, why not?

Because of Mothers' Day

Because of Mothers' Day this Sunday, Associated Newspapers Sports Editor Tom Mooradian will not be manning the telephone and enjoying a Sunday with the family.

Coaches who usually contact the sports desk on Sundays with their weekend results are encouraged to telephone Mr. Mooradian at his home (273-3273) Saturday morning and afternoon.

Track and tennis coaches will be able to contact the sports desk on Friday with their Thursday meet results. Your cooperation will be appreciated.

"It shows the depth we have," Price added, "and the competition was excellent. I think this is why the schools enjoy going over to Belleville."

Franklin Coach Bob Holmes said the difference in the meet was the field events, "where Churchill scored so well."

Churchill captured four of 13 events, with three of those coming of performances in the field. The Chargers' shot put relay team of Darell Kopley, Issa Khoury and Dave Kielty compiled for a 137'2½" performance, setting a new record.

Churchill's pole vaulting trio of Pat Marquardt, Jeff Sheridan and Russ Good finished atop of the standings with 36'6", while their discus entry of Norm Nalecz, Issa Khoury and Dave Kielty compiled 414'9½".

Price also had the best 440-yard relay team in Chuck Watkins, Bob Monahan, Joe Stchur and Doran Mason who were clocked in 44.5, beating Dearborn Heights' Robichaud's foursome by two-tenths of a second.

Holmes put together a mile relay team of Jeff Bowen, Bill Flannigan, Nate Kean and Phil Frusti that churned the winning time of 3:25.57, considered the best time in the state this season.

"We're going to have to stay healthy, though, to compete in the stretch," Holmes pointed out. "There's a lot of flu and measles going around. And if any of our kids come down with it we're in trouble."

Westland John Glenn, which finished fourth behind Taylor Center, had two first-place teams. The Westlanders fielded the top high jump threesome with Randy Gabrys, Jeff Langlois and Brad Jennings who had 18'2" for their combined efforts.

Coach Barry Basil picked out Jim Barber, Mark Johnson, Randy Gabrys and Jim Green for his 2-mile relay team and they responded with a clear-cut victory over natural rival, Wayne Memorial. The Rockets posted an 8:03.2 while the second-placing finishing Zebras turned in an 8:13.0.

Belleville was represented in the winning column with its high hurdle shuttle relay team of Scott Straight, John Dickerson, Richard Barnes, Dexter Hubbard who were clocked in 1:03.1, beating Franklin for the gold.

A sparkling performance by Churchill's Tobin Jones gave him the gold medal for the two-mile run. Jones, in a classic duel with Wayne Memorial's Rick Blaha, broke loose during the final 300-yards to leave Blaha behind and post a 9:25.7 for his winning run. Blaha was clocked in 9:28.4.

"It was an excellent meet," said Harry Hidenfelter, athletic director at Belleville High who was one of the originators of the relays. "The distances and times are proof of how this meet has attracted some of the outstanding young athletes not only

Belleville '9' slips against Allen Park

Baseball teams court disaster when they commit errors and six costly errors paved the way for Belleville's demise against Allen Park last week.

The 4-3 extra innings setback left Coach Dan Fisher and the Tigers with an even 3-3 Suburban 8 Conference record and two games off the pace set by league co-leaders, Plymouth Salem and Redford Union.

Allen Park scored the decisive run in the bottom of the 12th ending the marathon thanks to a walk, single and throwing error.

Southpaw Stan Price, who went the distance for Belleville, was tagged with the loss. He struck out 15 batters, walked eight and gave up four hits.

"It was a disappointment to lose because I felt we played well enough to win," said Coach Fisher. "We didn't get the hits and our defense faltered, but to lose a game like this one is disappointing to say the least."

Allen Park scored once in the bottom of the first and picked up a pair of runs in the third before the Tigers erupted for three runs in the fourth to tie it up. Belleville got on the board as Dan Skyles singled and moved to second when Larry Cicotte walked. After one was out, Paul Arnett was safe on an error, scoring one run, then Rob Laney also got aboard on an error. Consecutive walks to Mark Shelp and Charlie Childers produced the final two Belleville runs.

The loss leaves Belleville in a predicament where it will have to win the rest of their league games in hopes of catching the frontrunners. Fisher feels his Tigers have a chance if "we don't keep hurting ourselves."

"When your defense commits six errors you're in trouble," Fisher pointed out. "You're not going to win many ball games with that many errors."

The Tigers fattened their over-all record to 6-3 earlier in the week at the expense of neighborhood rival, Romulus. Belleville scored a 7-3 victory behind Tom Montgomery's four-hitter.

Kappler vaults 14' 6"

Salem scores 1st win over Dearborn

Plymouth Salem and head track Coach Gary Balconi won't have time to sit on their laurels after handing highly-touted Dearborn a narrow 80-78 setback last week, the Rocks plunge right into Edsel Ford on Thursday and Edsel is the undefeated Suburban 8 Conference champs.

But until then the Rocks can savour their first victory ever over Dearborn and Coach Bob Bridges who saw his hopes for a victory dissipated during the pole vault competition.

After the final event, the mile relay was completed, Salem had a narrow 74-73 edge with the pole vault competition still going on. Dearborn won the vaulting event, but the Rocks, led by senior Steve Kappler swept second, third and fourth places to clinch their third league victory in four starts.

"This is the first time we have ever beaten them in track," noted Balconi who views the pending showdown with Edsel Ford as a "big one". Edsel is definitely the class of the league. They have one of the finest sprinters in the area who is backed with an excellent corps of distance men and high jumpers.

"Thursday's meet will definitely tell us and the league a lot about who has the inside track on the league championship," Balconi added.

Kappler, competing in an invitational over the weekend, established himself as one of the finest vaulters in the state this year as he cleared 14 feet, 6 inches for first place and setting a school record en route to the top of the area and the state listings. Kappler's teammates, Dennis Ogden who successfully negotiated 13 feet, 6 inches, and Mark Choma, who went 12 feet, combined for 40 feet - one of the top, if not the top, effort by a pole vault relay team in the state.

Against Dearborn, the Rocks also had the edge in first places 9-7 as Mike Christie supplied two of the winning events for Salem. Christie was clocked in 40.1 which tied the school record in the 330-yard low hurdles, a record he had set earlier in the year. He also won the highs in 15.9.

Meet results: Plymouth Salem 88, Dearborn 78

Franklin places track crown on block at N. Farmington

If the weatherman would get over his doldrums and inject the area with some decent weather, Thursday's showdown between the two Northwest Suburban Conference track powers -- Livonia Franklin and North Farmington should be an interesting one.

Franklin, the defending champ, is coming off an impressive 114½-43½ victory over Thurston and a second place finish at the tough Western

Wayne Relays, and Coach Bob Holmes sees the pending confrontation with North, "as the key dual meet in our bid for the conference title."

"There is no doubt about it that North is a major obstacle in our path for a conference championship," Holmes said. "Some conferences don't count their dual meet league records toward the championship, however, our league does, therefore, this meet (with North) is a vital one."

Holmes pointed out that his team has been hit with a rash of flu, "but not measles, thank goodness." Apparently there has been an outbreak of measles in the school district and public health officials have warned residents to be on

Schimansky captures state AAU mat title

Despite being 10-years-old, Westlander Danny Schimansky has joined an elite club. The Cady Elementary School student has earned a state title in wrestling. Competing for the Wolverine Wrestling Club, Schimansky finished with a gold medal at the 70-pound class during the Amateur Athletic Union's state tournament held at Grand Blanc.

Danny also won the state title at the United States Kids' Federation last year at Grand Rapids.

They're racquetball champs

Racquetball may be an obscure, little publicized sport but for Caye Martel (at left), Rhonda Dreher and Sheryl Chomik it is an intense and exciting sport. Ms. Martel recently won the Wayne Parks and Recreation Department's women's racquetball singles' tournament with Rhonda and Sheryl finishing second and third, respectively. In doubles competition (below), Flo Lanthier and Dreher proved to have no equal as they came off of the courts with the first place trophies.

Wayne will need help to retain track title

Two consecutive losses, one to league rival Monroe, puts Wayne Memorial's girls' track team on the "razor's edge".

Coach Floyd Carter's defending Great Lakes 8 Conference champs will need some help in the form of a Lincoln Park victory over Monroe or else the Zebras must finish first at the conference championships in order to salvage the league crown.

"There is a good possibility that Lincoln Park may beat Monroe," Carter said after his Zebras lost their first league meet of the season, an 85-52 affair to the Trojans. "If Lincoln Park should win there will be at least three teams at the league meet that have a chance to win the title."

"However, a loss by the Parkers to Monroe would mean that we would have to finish ahead of Monroe at the conference championships to get a cut of the title," Carter added.

Monroe looked tough last Thursday, however. The Trojans amassed eight of 14 first places en route to their second straight league victory. The loss left Wayne with a 1-1 league record.

Glenn captures Lake Orion Doubles tennis tourney title

With their No.1 doubles team retaining the title they won a year ago, Westland John Glenn picked up the first place trophy at the unique Lake Orion Doubles Tennis Invitational.

Pat McBride and Gary Whited combined for a Glenn victory in the No.1 doubles as they set down the host team in three sets, losing the opening game 6-2, then going on to post victories of 6-1 and 6-3.

Glenn also came away with the

No.4 doubles' title thanks to the team efforts of Scott Healy and Gerald Green who beat the entry from North Farmington 6-4 and 7-5.

"We looked good," said Glenn coach Don Aldrich whose Rockets are 2-0 in the Northwest Suburban Conference. "Our kids are peaking at the right time."

Glenn's third doubles, Greg Nichols and Bob Bolish, found themselves in trouble after surviving their first round test. They beat Lake Orion in the first round, then lost to Troy Athens.

Larry McClure and Dave Pearson ran up against a stubborn Athens' team in the first round and, after winning the first set 6-2, were ousted 6-4 and 6-3.

Glenn will be busy this week if the Rockets aren't weathered out. They have key conference matches with Garden City East, Thurston and North Farmington and will travel to Trenton on Saturday for the "Honor and Glory" Invitational.

Tiano, 25, a former Plymouth Salem athlete who attended Grand Valley State, is having problems getting the Chiefs into the winning column. After four dual meets, two in the Western Six, Canton and their coach are still looking for that coveted first win.

"We have the frontrunners," Tiano pointed out, "but we don't have the depth. We're giving away places and you're not going to win that way."

The latest to beat the Chiefs was

Thurston is next for Glenn gals

Decking both Garden City East and West at a double dual track meet last Thursday, Westland John Glenn's girls varsity team remained the team to catch in the Northwest Suburban Conference.

The Rockets have won seven of eight, their lone loss was out of the league to Ypsilanti whipping East 104 1/2-32 in the league and turning back West 104 1/2-34 1/2 outside the conference.

The Westlanders also won close 69 1/2-66 1/2 decision over neighboring Livonia Churchill last Thursday. That one was decided by Glenn's superior depth as Churchill swept eight of the 14 events.

Glenn heads for Redford Thurston on Thursday for its next conference meeting. The action will begin at 3:30 p.m.

Canfield throttles Taylor Truman

Wayne hurler tosses a one-hitter in opening game

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

What's that cliché about yesterday's child being today's man. Well, yesterday's child also can be tomorrow's major league pitcher as could be the case of Wayne's senior southpaw Jim Canfield who singlehandedly swept two games from Taylor Truman last Thursday.

Canfield earned a 5-0 victory over Truman in what was a suspended game that was staged April 10 and called in the seventh inning because of rain.

Canfield faced 10 batters and retired nine while his teammates erupted for five runs in the ninth to seal the victory. He pitched a one-hitter for nine innings, giving up a third inning, two-out single to Dan Gdowski.

Canfield and the Zebras beat the hard-throwing Ron McCue who saw his hopes for victory disappear in the top of the ninth when he gave up a lead off walk to Greg Stano, who raced to second after a wild pitch. After a couple of unsuccessful attempts to sacrifice Stano, Robert Nutt singled home the first run of the game.

Then, while Truman went to the plate in hopes of cutting down Stano, Nutt moved to second and scored on Canfield's single. Canfield was lifted for pinchrunner Skip Walker who was chased to third on Mark Korte's double. After McCue fanned the next batter, he served up a two-run single to Larry Vojtkofsky who stole second and also scored on Ray Layton's single.

Wayne missed an opportunity to wrap up the game in the eighth when they loaded the bases and stranded Korte, David Freeburn and Layton.

In the nightcap the two pitchers, Canfield and McCue went at it again and McCue lasted until the second when he was removed for a reliever.

Wayne struck for a run in the second, built up its lead 3-0 after third innings, then scored one in the fifth and three in the sixth. Truman got on the board in the fourth and scored twice in the sixth before bowing 7-3 to Canfield.

Canfield worked six innings, a total of nine for the day, and gave up five hits, three runs of which one was earned. He fanned four and didn't walk any.

Canfield, a product of the Wayne sandlot, remains undefeated on the season.

Korte, Freeburn, Rich Porter and Mark Zerona each had two hits in the second game while Canfield sliced a two-run single in the sixth that broke the tight game open.

Earlier in the week Wayne dropped a 3-1 decision to Riverview which left them dangling on a 4-4 Great Lakes 8 Conference record.

Franklin '9' shares Northwest league lead with North Farmington

Weathered out against North Farmington earlier in the season, Livonia Franklin apparently isn't going to have an opportunity to prove to their arch Northwest Suburban Conference baseball rivals that the Patriots belong in first place all alone.

The two co-leaders were scheduled to meet Monday to settle the first place issue, but rain disrupted their plans and both teams will sit on their 5-1 league records until a break in the weather.

Coach Ron Helliher's Patriots kept their share of first place by sweeping a doubleheader from Garden City East and stopping Westland John Glenn for the second time this year.

The Livonians won the opener 2-1 and the nightcap 4-3.

Jeff Sergison scattered eight East hits, collected 10 strikeouts and walked one en route to the opening game victory.

Joe Emery, given his first start of the season, was the victim. Emery gave up six hits while pulling 14

Franklin batters down on strikeouts. He walked two.

Franklin went ahead in the second inning as a single by Gary DeYonker, a sacrifice bunt by Sergison and Chris Baker's single to right center produced the first run of the game.

But East came back in the next inning and tied it up thanks to Emery's single and Steve Topolian's base hit.

What proved to be the winning margin in the game was blinked on the scoreboard in the sixth inning. A single by Jim Kuzara who got the hit-and-run sign and Ron Reeter's hit that got by the leftfielder broke the deadlock.

Reeter and Schwab each got two hits in four appearances at the plate.

In the second game, East blew a 3-1 lead in the fifth when Franklin tied it up. The Westlanders won it with a sixth inning run scored on a walk to Sergison, a bunt sacrifice by Ron Schwab and an infield error.

Daryl Watkins, in relieve of starter Ken Webster, got credit for the victory. Webster worked only 1 and one-third innings, gave up two runs and five hits when Helliher decided to go with Watkins. Kuzara got the save, having relieved Watkins in the fifth.

Topolian was tagged with the loss in relief of starter Bill Orr.

The Patriots took a 1-0 first inning lead when John Mazurek walked, stole second and raced home on a single by Jim Wilson. East tied it up in the second and went ahead by two in the third.

Franklin put those runs back on the board in the fifth with DeYonker's single, a walk to Tom Hollandsworth, a passed ball and a suicide squeeze with Reeter at the plate.

Jeff Aguzzi went the distance against Glenn to chalk up a 7-3 victory over the Rockets who rallied for two runs in the last of the seventh. Aguzzi allowed three hits, struck out eight and walked three.

Franklin is scheduled to return to the diamond on Thursday when they have a doubleheader with future league rival, Redford Union. R.U. is departing from the Suburban 8 to the Northwest Suburban this fall. On Friday, the league will begin the third round with Glenn and Franklin going at it again.

"That loss could cost us plenty," said Wayne Coach Jim Chronowski. "Monroe has the lead with a 6-2 record and if we had reversed the Riverview decision in our favor we would have been right in the thick of it because we still have the second round to go."

Rich "Hard Luck" Porter was the victim of the Pirates' siege as the Wayne hurler failed in getting the defensive support from his teammates who committed five errors. Porter has pitched 19.23 innings in the league and has only one earned run against him, but his record is 1-2 despite an enviable 0.36 ERA.

Wayne committed five costly errors in that one and averted the shutout in the fifth inning thanks to a single by Smart, who stole second and advanced to third on a ground-out. He scored on a two-out single by Freeburn.

PH&R contest registration deadline set

Area boys and girls who intend to compete in the annual Pitch, Hit & Run baseball contest have until May 20 to register, according to Westland Parks and Recreation Department officials.

Registration will be accepted until 9 a.m. at the Thom McAn Shoe Store in the Westland Shopping Center. Pitch, Hit and Run is sponsored by Thom McAn in association with the National Recreation and Park Association and the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports.

NRPA personnel will conduct all levels of competition.

The competition is open for boys and girls ages 9-12.

Local winners will advance to the district and regionals and the survivors of these tournaments will eventually meet in at the All-Star Game to compete for the national title.

It was cold and miserable and the only consolation, according to Westland John Glenn track coach Barry Basil, "was that we won the meet."

And so they did. The Westlanders breezed past Garden City East 106-52 last Thursday to even up their Northwest Suburban track record to 1-1. They'll meet Thurston for their next test.

"Our performances haven't come up to expectation," pointed out Basil, "because I feel the weather has had a lot to do with it. We just haven't had a streak of warm weather so that this kids can really get into shape."

Despite the weatherman's lack of cooperation, the Rockets pushed themselves to sweep of all five events in the field events and also finished with seven other firsts.

Westlander Brad Jennings and East's Dave Berger exchanged double wins. Jennings had the best leap in the high jump as he cleared the bar at 6 feet, while he ran a 16.1

Injured Beyer returns to Wayne tennis lineup

Relief is on the way for Wayne's battered tennis troops who are struggling through a 4-4 Great Lakes 8 Conference season.

Todd Beyer, Wayne's No.1 player and ranked among the best junior netters in the state, will rejoin Coach Jack Armstrong's team this week.

The 17-year-old Beyer suffered an ankle injury during a pick-up basketball game and missed 10 days of tennis competition.

"We'll be happy to get him back," said Armstrong, whose Zebras defeated Taylor Truman 6-1, but lost a narrow 4-3 decision to Riverview last week. "With Todd back I am certain that we could have reversed the Riverview score."

With a 4-4 conference record, Wayne will need a miracle of sorts to derail undefeated Monroe's title express. Monroe is now seated in first place and definitely is the team to beat at the conference championships. The Trojans also happen to be the defending champs.

Jeff Holderness, who was moved up from the second to the No.1 singles spot, has been able to carry the extra load. He is undefeated in six outings as the top Wayne singles' stick.

Meet results: Wayne Memorial 6, Taylor Truman 1

Marsiglia boosts Romulus baseball title hopes

There is new hope on the diamond at Romulus.

Mike Marsiglia, one of the top prep pitchers in the area a year ago, is back in Coach Dennis Stol's lineup and is ready for action.

"We hope that Mike will help us salvage a winning season and fare well at the districts," Stol said after getting a look at his ace in a two-game series against Willow Run.

Though Marsiglia sustained a 2-1 loss, the senior hurler appeared ready for his comeback. He was knocked out of commission the week before the season was to open up when he sustained a leg injury practicing sliding in the gym.

In his first start this season, Marsiglia gave up an eight hit and a two-out seventh inning run to wind up the loser in the second game against Willow Run.

Romulus took a 1-0 lead in the game which was played at Eastern Michigan University. The Eagles scored on a first inning single by Mike Brooks who was singled to second by Steve Venier. A passed ball moved up the runners and Mike Williams' fielder's choice accounted for the run.

Cherry Hill track team keeps on rolling

Like that river in the song, Cherry Hill's track teams "just keeps on rolling."

And what could be the longest high school conference winning streak in the state may belong to Coach Joe Grasley and his Spartans who have won 28 consecutive Tri-River Conference dual meets.

No.29 and No.30, however, worry Grasley.

The Spartan mentor was to send his troops up against unbeaten Garden City West Tuesday night and West has displayed excellent talent during invitational meets. In fact, Grasley figures that Tiger skipper Bill Pinnell just may have the horses that can trample the Spartans this year.

"They definitely have a lot of blue chip athletes," Grasley admitted. "The meet will be decided on which team can take the second, third and fourth places and I'm hoping we have the depth to do that."

On Thursday, Cherry Hill was to engage once-defeated Dearborn Heights Crestwood and Crestwood also could be a thorn in Cherry Hill's side.

Meanwhile, the Spartans enjoyed their 28th league triumph, an easy 108-52 decision over Taylor Kennedy.

The defending champs received a pair of victories from Daryl Gallant who won the long jump competition with a leap of 19 feet, 1 inch then covered the quarter-mile in 53.7.

Blaha runs '2' in 9:12.2

RICK BLAHA

TOBIN JONES

Trenton is winner at Wayne

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Wayne Memorial's super senior distance runner Rick Blaha, moving in fast company, turned in a 9:12.2 for the two-mile to win the gold medal at the Wayne Invitational Meet held Saturday.

Blaha's time placed him among the top five runners in the state this year and his performance erased the previous meet and school records for the event.

"He's beginning to drop his times," said Wayne Coach Ernie Righetti, "and I feel his potential hasn't even been tapped yet."

Blaha led Adrian's Jimmy Miller and teammate Doug Tolson to the wire. Miller was clocked in 9:21, while Tolson, a sophomore, was third with a 9:30 even finish. That time eclipsed his sophomore record.

Wayne also had the best four mile relay team in the 14-team field, Coach Ernie Righetti put together for a foursome Paul Spencer, Doug Tolson, Ron Mason and Blaha who ran an 18:21.7 for a school and meet record.

Wayne however finished up the field teamwise. Trenton captured the championship trophy with 68 points, while Dearborn was runner-up with 59, followed by Adrian (57), Ypsilanti (57) and Belleville (50).

Chris Koger paced Belleville's long jump entry which finished first with 60'9 1/4". The lanky senior also had the best individual leap of the day, 22'1", which established a meet record and placed him on top of the area listings for the event. Coach David Medley completed his relay team with Church Blackman and Mike Koski.

Belleville's high jump team of Koger, Dickerson and Lee combined for 18 feet to win the event.

Other local highlights was the performance of Westland John Glenn's record-setting two-mile team which brought together Cory Gielinski, Mark Johnson, Randy Gabrys and Jim Green who ran an 8:04 for their victory.

Attention, Westland gal golfers

The Westland Parks and Recreation Department has a women's morning golfing league on its drawings boards and it will become a reality if enough interested golfers register.

The league will play, starting Monday, May 22nd at Fellow's Creek Golf Course in Canton. Tee off time is scheduled at 10 a.m.

Interested golfers may register at the Westland City Hall, 36601 Ford Rd., Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. and until 8 p.m. on Tuesday.

Players who want additional information may do so by telephoning 261-7030.

Canton golfers swinging

Getting a brief break from the weatherman, the Canton Parks and Recreation Department opened up the 1978 men's golf season last week at Fellow's Creek Golf Course.

And at least five teams didn't appear affected by the long winter and delays. Despite relatively high scores, and strong winds which could pose a problem to seasoned golfers, some of the golfers appeared in mid-season form.

Among those who took first round leads were Tony Valenti and Mike Roemer who both shot 39's for nine holes. Paul Oberhelman was two shots off the pace, turning in with a 41.

Here are the first week scores and league standings: Oberhelman and Mattingly defeated Stuebgen and Seewald 5-0; Watt and Lindley defeated Golver and Pitz 5-0; Canning and Young defeated Hoffman and Yuchas, 4-1; Horrey and Gabriel defeated Riggs and Rehberg, 5-0; Kraft and Valenti defeated Lally and Lyndrup 4 1/2-1 1/2; Brock and Lawrence defeated Argonis and Lapierre 5-0; while Koers and Koers defeated Natoli and Mogelnicki 3-2; Ponte and Ponte defeated Thomas and Humberger 5-0, while Bednarz and Slade stopped McGee and Johnson, 4-1.

Jones is breezing along at mile pace

Coming off of an impressive victory at the Belleville Relays, Livonia Churchill resumed its bid for the Western Six Conference track title on Thursday by burying Northville, 91-57.

It was the second straight conference victory for the Chargers who have dominated the league since its inception six years ago.

Earlier, Churchill's Tobin Jones competed in the Central Michigan Relays where he ran a 4:02.1 for the 1,500 meters, and converted into yards and miles it would give the senior endurance runner a 4:20.1 for the mile. Teammate Rick Austin also looked good in the 110-meter hurdles as he was clocked in the winning time of 14.8.

...28 straight league victories

Salem '9' woos state 'A' ranking

From the pits where they dropped two games to Wayne Memorial, Plymouth Salem has risen to the top of the area baseball spectrum.

Coach Brian Gillies' Rocks won four straight last week to build up an enviable 12-3 over-all and a 5-1 Suburban B Conference record and the won-lost ratio has the Salem coach wondering if it isn't time that his team got some notice from the pollsters.

"I feel we should be ranked," said Gillies, "but, a lot will depend upon what we do this week. If we can win a couple of more, we would have a very respectable record."

However, rains washed out the Salem game Monday against league rivals, Dearborn. The Rocks were to meet defending champ, Livonia Bentley, on Tuesday, a team they whipped 13-1 the first time around. Then, on Friday, title-dreamer Allen Park is due in town.

"This is definitely a big week for us," Gillies pointed out.

Despite the cold last Saturday, Salem managed to get in a pair of games, winning a 10-3 decision from Detroit Northwestern in the morning and stopping Ann Arbor Pioneer in the afternoon, 6-4.

Matt Etienne's two-hit pitching performance convinced the Detroiters they were no match for this year's Rocks. The lefthanded Salem senior was in control all the way as he notched 14 strikeouts and walked four to build his personal record to 2-0 on the year. Etienne was working on a no-hitter when he gave up a solid single in the sixth which paved the way for Northwestern's three runs.

Bob Waite continued his torrid hitting streak as he collected a triple and double in three trips to the plate.

Teammate Dave Wilcox checked in with three for three and four RBI's, belting a fifth inning homer with Waite aboard.

In the second game, righthander Bruce Piper went the distance and twirled a seven-hitter as he fanned six and walked three.

Piper has now won seven straight decisions.

The Rocks erupted for a five-run second inning to erase a 3-0 first period deficit. They got their final run in the fourth.

Wilcox started the second inning rally with a double and, after one was out, Etienne was hit by a pitch. Joe Goodsir then walked to load the bases and Doug Holloway came through with a single, scoring one run. John Lewelling also singled then Paul Dillon walked forcing in the third run of the inning. Sam Merrill also walked and Waite grounded out, producing the final tally.

Salem needed a late-innings rally to squelch a Ypsilanti uprising earlier in the weeks. Trailing 5-3 going into the top of the fifth, the Rocks struck for a run in that inning, picked up two in the sixth to tie the game, then banged out the winning run in the last inning.

Holloway got credit for the victory in relief of starter Barry Owens who worked five innings, struck out one and walked three in allowing all five runs and six hits.

Piper's single started the Rocks on the road to victory. He was forced at second on Etienne's fielder's choice, then Etienne stole second and scored on an up-the-middle single by Goodsir.

Goodsir went two for three, including that decisive base hit and Waite again came through with a double that chased home two runs with two away in the sixth.

In their lone conference game of the week, Salem hung on to beat Edsel Ford 8-6. The T-Birds got on the board with a three-run spurt in the third, but Salem replied with five big ones in the bottom of the inning and made it a 8-4 game in the next frame. The Dearbornites came back for their final two runs in the sixth.

Goodsir's bases-loaded triple in the third with Waite and Wilcox who had singled and Piper, who had walked, provided the key blast.

In that fourth inning surge, with two-away Piper singled and Etienne then hammered his second homer of the year, the blast going over the right field fence.

Goodsir then came to the plate and followed with a 356-foot homer that cleared the left centerfield fence.

"For the past two weeks we have been hitting the ball and getting good pitching," Gillies said. "The attitude is there and I feel we are believing in ourselves."

Drugs, sports just don't mix

Coaches, trainers and team doctors are urged to oppose the use of drugs by athletes unless needed for treatment of disease, deficiency, or severe injury.

Donald L. Cooper, MD, Oklahoma University team physician, told 400 coaches, trainers and team doctors at a recent Michigan State Medical Society conference in Lansing that, "We are a drug-abusing society and athletes are part of the social environment we live in."

cancer, hepatitis, bladder blockage, impotency, etc.

He declared marijuana doubly dangerous now because much of it has been sprayed with toxic chemicals. He described research studies using placebos (water or sugar pills) that proved that anticipated benefits from drugs are largely mythical.

The one-day annual conference stressed the importance of physical examination of athletes, good conditioning, and also good relationships between parents, athlete, coach, trainer and team physician. Several speakers expressed disappointment in the apparent lack of interest in some senior and junior high school in sports-medicine, especially in intramural programs.

Why are these people sitting in the cold?

Rabid Westland John Glenn track and field fans have had it pretty rough this year. And they can blame it all on the weather. Because of the unseasonal cold, many of the high school meets are attended by the brave while the sunshine patriots shy away and seek the comfort of warmer places. Above, these foursome, stocked with warm blankets, didn't let Old Man Winter's late departure from the sports scene spoil their day. They attended Glenn's last track meet and the Rockets awarded them with a victory.

Romulus edged the Flyers 4-3 in the opener as Williams worked five innings to get credit for the win. Marsiglia got the save.

After Willow Run had scored two runs in the top of the first, the Eagles retaliated with three of their own runs in the bottom of that frame on singled by Brooks and Russ Ayers, an error and John Bozelak's two run base hit. Romulus increased the margin to 4-2 in the bottom of the third as a walk to

Losing pitcher Maurice Smith then walked Tony Cholete, forcing in what later proved to be the winning run.

Belleville exploded for four runs in the bottom of the sixth to hand Romulus and Jim Sullivan a 7-3 setback. Sullivan lasted five full innings, struck out five and walked two before Stol called in Mike Brooks.

Belleville's Tom Montgomery notched 10 strikeouts and walked three in claiming the victory.

Romulus took the lead 3-2 in the fourth when Vic Bird singled, moved to third on consecutive passed balls and was singled home by Sullivan. Sullivan moved to second on another wild pitch and an error of Jim Woolford's grounder allowed the run to score.

Tiger leadoff batter Larry Cicotte collected three singles, while Rob Laney hammered a two-run homer in the bottom of the sixth with Dan Styles who had singled. Charlie Childers doubled and tripled and knocked in two runs for the winners who have a 6-3 overall record.

Yearbook is ready

A lively new edition of the Tiger Yearbook is now on sale. It features full-color photos of the young prospects who promise so much for the team's future. Featured on the attractive cover are photos of Dave Rozema, Jason Thompson, Ron LeFlore and Steve Kemp.

The 1978 Tiger Yearbook is on sale at Tiger Stadium and at magazine stands in the Michigan-Ohio area at $1.50 a copy. It also can be ordered by mail at $2.00 a copy, postpaid. Mail orders should be addressed to: Yearbook, Tiger Stadium, Detroit, Michigan 48216.

Canton Trophy leads rec. league

Canton Trophy and Bowling Sales has the lead in the Canton Recreation Department's Eyeopener Women's Bowling League which bowls each Monday morning at the Super Bowl.

Trophy and Bowling has amassed 80 points and is captained by Mary Jane Faussett.

In the second place spot is Lou's Gang, trailing by one point and the runners-up are captained by Lori Skotzke. With 72 points, the Pickeups are third and team captain is Chris Souter.

There are 22 teams registered in the league.

AUTO FACTS

by Chet Kosin

Designed to dampen the force of any sudden impacts, the double-action hydraulic shock absorber works equally well whether being squeezed together or pulled apart. When the wheel travels over a bump, the lower cylinder moves with the wheel and is telescoped into the upper cylinder, which is bolted to the frame of the car. A piston attached to the upper cylinder eases this telescoping action by plunging into thick fluid at the bottom of the pressure tube. The pressure slows the piston's motion and causes some fluid to flow upward through the compression valve and downward through the reservoir valve into the reservoir tubes.

Do it yourself mechanics are invited to visit KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 26831 Michigan Ave., Inkster, for quality parts and engine repair service. We specialize in parts and accessories for both foreign and domestic cars and our complete machine shop handles the most challenging of engine problems. Expert mechanics do all types of work on any size and type of engine — motorcycle, Diesel, marine, industrial, agricultural, etc. Our service is fast, efficient, and reasonably priced! Call KOSIN'S at 563-3894. We are open daily from 8 A.M. until 8 P.M., and on Saturdays from 8 A.M. until 5 P.M.

Special Olympics Attracts Area Youth

Everyone was a winner at the Wayne County Special Olympics, sponsored again this year by the Civitans of Plymouth, Wayne, Livonia and Dearborn.

Nearly 1,300 mentally and physically impaired persons from all over Wayne County participated in the track and field events, swimming and bowling competition.

The host city for the two-day event was Dearborn, where all the events were held on April 29 and May 5. Civitan clubs rotate as the home city for the olympics each year. Wayne is due to host the games next year.

The Special Olympics is an all-volunteer effort, financed through the Civitan Clubs under the national sponsorship of the Kennedy Foundation, which originally came up with the idea for an olympics for mentally and physically impaired persons.

This year, some 400 volunteers participated in supervising games, according to Linda Potter, a fledgling Civitan whose husband, Dick, belongs to the Wayne chapter. Mrs. Potter organized the volunteer effort. She is currently trying to rouse enough interest in the service group to form a Westland chapter, since club rules prohibit her from being in the same chapter with her husband.

She explained that the Civitans work year-round preparing for the special day. Games and events are adapted to fit the special needs of the special participants. For instance, there is a blind runners event, special contests specifically for persons in wheelchairs and so on.

Other events include high jump, track dashes and runs, a frisbee throw and softball throw, swimming and bowling.

First, second and third place winners get ribbons, but all participants get Special Olympics T-shirts and ribbons for taking part. The emphasis of the games is to give participants a pride of accomplishment in training for, and entering the events, win or lose.

Many contestants from Western Wayne County participated in this year's event. They train for it at their schools throughout the year.

Top winners in the events are eligible to go on to the state Special Olympics that will be held in Mt. Pleasant during the first week in June.

STEVE BARRER
Century 21 - ABC

"Realtor of the Week"

When I decided to open my own real estate office after 18 years of experience in this area, I did some extensive checking before deciding to become a member of the Century 21 family.

There are many groups that I considered joining but after studying the Century 21 program, it was clear to me that they were by far the leader in the state of Michigan as well as the entire country.

But, success is not automatic in any business. Success is a combination of the attitude of the owner as well as the quality of the people working to serve the public.

I wish to thank the management of this newspaper for this opportunity to publicly thank each and every member of my sales staff who have done so much to help bring about the success we have enjoyed in the first year of our business.

I consider the following people to be my friends as well as my co-workers. Many thanks to: Rick Amolsch, Rosa Ballor, Hillary Brown, Carol Heiman, Raymond Jensen, DeDe Lewis, Bettye Morgan, Van and Sandy Mamula, Joan Pate, Blane Rickel, Matthew Sovick, Diana Watson, Linda Wilkenson and Verna Willett.

The experience of buying and selling a home can be filled with pleasure. We here at Century 21, ABC Realty, can mix the necessary ingredients of knowledge, experience, insight, and concern. The end results can be a happy experience for everyone.

We at ABC Realty believe that a smiling person is a happy person. For that reason, we want to leave

A Hollywood actor had been looking for a home. His real estate broker called one day and told the actor he had some good news and some bad news for him.

"What's the good news?" the actor asked.

"We can get this beautiful mansion you're so crazy about for only $210,000."

"Wonderful," screamed the actor. "Now what is the bad news?"

"They want $200 down," the broker answered.

BUYING A HOME MAKES THINGS HAPPEN, TOO.

There's the satisfaction of living in a place that belongs to you...

...cash savings from the tax deductions you're taking now, and equity you're building for later...

So home ownership is more than an American dream. It's a practical, positive, American way of life. Talk to a REALTOR* about buying a home. REALTORS* are real estate professionals, trained to help you decide where to buy, what to buy, and how much you can really afford to spend.

All over America, enterprising people are making home ownership happen. To be one of them, call a REALTOR* today.
